CULPEPER COUNTY
HIGH SCHOOL
FOR THE SCHOOL YEAR
1966-1967

A PERIOD OF TRANSITION

New areas of development were abroad at CCHS. This book is an essay and a pictorial story of CCHS life. The passage of the Bond Issue, an indication of growth, enabled further plans for a high school to be made. With this came different trends of thought, a spirit of transition that was finding its way into CCHS.

TRANSITION

A TIMELY SUBJECT—John Steele, Pam Gombos, Edgar Brown, Larry Reid, and Mike Kennedy view a placard on the Virginia Museum vehicle.

HMMM—Ann Green and Charles Hankins consider the merits of modern sculpture.

HAULING IT DOWN—Fred Rankin out-rebounds Gil Cody of James Monroe as Barry Sudduth, Michael Carpenter and John Kirkham prepare to play offense. The Devils won the second game of the tournament at Stafford, 81 to 63.

"THIS IS A GOALIE." Mrs. Lloyd Fagg instructs coed physical education classes, as Diana Gaskins models goalie gear.

MIRROR, MIRROR . . .—Through mirrors the buses appear as a long, crooked line.

SHUTTERBUG—Photographer Leslie Taylor concentrates on the angle of one of his 500 COLONNADE subjects.

ADMINISTRATION

With a continuing revolution in techniques, the faculty made use of modern teaching methods. New duplicate forms brought six weeks reporting nearer data processing. The Virginia Museum Theater's presentation of "The Subject Was Roses" was a novel touch to the English Department. Blending fresh ideas with old gave courses more spice.

Board Buys Land And Approves Plan

The School Board purchased 78.6 acres November 1, 1966, for the site of the new high school. They met with the members of Davis and McClintock Architectural Firm of Harrisonburg to prepare plans for the future school. The voters of Culpeper County approved the four million dollar bond issue December 13, 1966, to build the new school and to take care of other school improvements.

The school, which will be located a half mile north of the present high school and just off Route 229, will be composed of three wings centered around the library. The plant will accommodate educational facilities for 1350 students, the approximate population of high school students within five years. All high school students in Culpeper County will enter the school in the fall of 1968.

The Board purchased six large school buses to relieve overcrowded conditions in the transportation system.

Looking toward full integration, the administration made plans for a quiet and orderly transition.

Provisions were made for substantial improvement of teachers' salaries.

The School Board also provided for the betterment of the school library.

They adhered to the former policy of limiting school dances and social events to the Junior-Senior Prom.

Mr. F. Brent Sandidge, Division Superintendent of Schools, presides over commencement exercises of the Practical Nursing Class. Mr. Sandidge was responsible for administering school affairs and accounting for the $1,544,961.49 budget for 1966-1967.

Reaching for the phone, Mr. Lloyd Cregger, principal, prepares to end another day at CCHS. Mr. Cregger, in his second year here, enjoys all forms of sports and reading. He received his M.Ed. from V.P.I.

Mr. Henry Conner, Director of Instruction, and Mrs. Earl White, Visiting Teacher, examine new textbooks in the midst of the storage shelves of the Culpeper County School Book Depository.

MAY I HAVE YOUR ATTENTION PLEASE??—Mr. Robert Sessoms, assistant principal, received his M.Ed. from the University of Virginia. His hobbies are swimming and woodworking.

CULPEPER COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS—Mr. William Bywaters, Jefferson District; Mr. Conner Yates, Salem District; Mr. Winfrey White, Chairman, Catalpa District; Mr. William Walker, Stevensburg District; Mr. Thomas McMullan, Cedar Mountain District.

SCHOOL BOARD of CULPEPER COUNTY—Mr. William Alphin, Salem District; Mr. Roadcap Atkins, School Board Clerk; Mr. William Spillman, Chairman, Stevensburg District; Mr. Brent Sandidge, Division Superintendent of Schools; Mr. Robert Inskeep, Catalpa District; Mr. Robert Chilton, Jefferson District; Mr. Hamilton Hutcherson, Cedar Mountain District.

STAFF

Food Prices, Buses, and Staff Increase

Due to the rising cost of food, the students paid 30 cents for lunch, an increase of five cents over the previous cost. The cafeteria received glass serving counters which added speed and efficiency to the cafeteria line. A cash register replaced the former method of having a student count the money in hopes of excelling the pace of serving. After using the cash register for a few weeks without improvement, the old method was restored.

The two janitors cleaned the school daily. They also kept busy doing various odd jobs upon request.

Both adults and students drove buses. The students were excused from school fifteen minutes early so they could be ready for loading buses by 3:10. Mr. Arthur Scott, who started driving a carry-all in 1929, anticipated retiring.

HE'LL SWEEP YOU OFF YOUR FEET—Mr. Ollie Robertson frees a classroom floor from dust and dirt after school.

BUS DRIVERS—Front row: Mr. Graves Hicks, Lee Corbin, Mr. Curtis Weaver, Mrs. Carlton Heflin, Mrs. Cecil Weaver, Mrs. Roy Hitt, Mrs. Homer Jenkins, Mr. Kenneth Brown, Mrs. Joseph Tansimore. Second row: Mr. Brew Burke, Mr. Verginius Weaver, Mrs. Walter Scott, Jackson Myers, Jackson Frazier, John Jenkins, Mr. Arthur Scott, Miss Elnora Tansimore. Third row: Mr. Lawrence Wilhoite, Ray Smoot, Mr. David Richards, Robert Clatterbuck, Ronald Burke, Mr. Owen Wyatt—Supervisor of Transportation. Fourth row: Mr. William Tolliver, Mrs. Charles Long, John Jones, Mr. Solomon Meney, Mr. Charles Harlow, Mrs. Fred Garrison. Missing from Picture: Mr. Frank Gimbel, Mr. Robert Simms, Victor Jones, Mrs. William Singleton, Lt. Col. Norman Wilbur, Mr. John Thorpe, Mrs. Humphries Estes, William Wise, Mrs. Bernard Gardner.

BUSY AT WORK—Mrs. George Bailey, Mrs. Gene Iager, Mrs. Mahlon McAllister, and Mrs. Hugh Foster, cafeteria workers, prepare the plates for the oncoming 1st lunch shift.

OUR SCHOOL WILL SHINE TONIGHT—Mr. William Lambert cleans up after the school litterbugs have departed from the premises.

TWIN HEADS—Mr. Owen Wyatt, Supervisor of Transportation, explains Code 400 to bus drivers.

English Class Observes Professionals

For the first time many students attended a dramatic-comedy performed by professional actors when the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts presented "The Subject Was Roses". The professional cast and stage technicians toured Virginia using movable stage setting. All English classes except the freshman, attended the play. They studied the play before the performance, asked the actors questions, and took a test prepared by the Museum.

Sophomore English students used a new vocabulary book. Unlike the former "Word Power Vocabulary" books with lessons organized by alphabetical order, they studied words arranged in groups with common definitions.

English classes reduced in size due to an addition to the faculty of the department. The teachers kept busy studying new textbooks in order to choose new books for next year.

American literature was the topic of Junior English college preparatory studies. First semester the classes wrote short stories; second semester they wrote research papers. The students bought Preparing the Research Paper, a small handbook, to guide them while preparing their papers.

Senior students studied English literature. Those in the college preparatory program used The Scholastic Series, anthology of stories with a theme involving success.

All college preparatory classes, except the eleventh grade students, studied Shakespearean plays. All classes were required to memorize a number of lines from the plays.

"OH. YOU HAVE ONE"—Miss Mildred Jones passes out the study guides to the stage play, The Subject Was Roses—In addition to being chairman of the English Department, Miss Jones teaches two classes each of Junior and Senior College Preparatory English.

MONEYBAGS—Mrs. Aubrey Ross counts out the money for the evening dinner at SIPA. Mrs. Ross sponsors the Pepergram and teaches four classes of English. When not thinking about her granddaughter, Mrs. Ross likes to play bridge.

SNAP IN TIME—"The Spunkees" of the Honors English class, composed of Robert Gore, Everette Mitchell, Crisler Lindsay, and Edward Garrison, perform an original ballad for a special Hamlet project.

ENGLISH SEMINAR—Mrs. Wayne Duncan, Miss Eleanor Wright, and Mr. John Davis listen to Miss Beverly Roark's comments on English Literature. Mrs. Duncan teaches Junior and Senior English and sponsors the Junior class. Miss Wright, who received her B.A. from Mary Washington College, co-sponsors the Cloak and Dagger Club and teaches ninth and eleventh grade English. Her hobbies are bowling, knitting, and crossword puzzles. Mr. Davis, co-sponsor of the Hi-Y club and forensics coach, teaches ninth and eleventh grade English. Miss Roark received her B.S. from Longwood, teaches tenth grade English, and loves to travel.

TIMMY'S BIG SPEECH—Lloyd Shockley works out the problems of a G.I. at home after the war in the Virginia Museum Theater's presentation of The Subject Was Roses.

ANACHRONISM?—No, Judy Walker shows her English 12 class how the Nun in Chaucer's Nun's Priest Tale dressed as Ellen Rudy explains it.

History Classes Stress Current Events

"NOW LOOK YOU GUYS"—Coach James Artz goes over the last play in the James Monroe football game, which James Monroe won 39-0. Mr. Artz obtained his B. A. from Shepherd College and his M. Ed. from University of Virginia. In addition to teaching 5 periods of World Geography, he sponsors the Varsity Club and the Junior Class.

Stressing current events, the social studies department added spice to its courses. Government classes required summaries of important newspaper and magazine articles relevant to their studies each six weeks.

Mr. Floyd Binns recorded six speeches on Communism at Freedom's Foundations, Valley Forge during a summer convention which he attended on a scholarship from the Virginia State Bar Association. These speeches stimulated an interest in the study of Communism in Government classes.

The Junior Town Council gave students a valuable insight into local government. Nine students were elected in February to observe the Town Council in March and to actually conduct the next March meeting. These students were required to have a B average in Government and not below a C in any class.

United States History classes used Cavalier Commonwealth to emphasize Virginia's role in America's history.

World History students learned the ancient and modern government of foreign nations and their various cultures.

LOOK AT THIS—Examining the new history books are, clockwise from left, Mr. Floyd Binns, Mr. Michael Schoenberger, Miss Laura Thornhill, and Mrs. Charles Anderson. Mr. Binns, chairman of the Social Studies Department and Sponsor of the Senior Class, is girls' Softball Coach. Mr. Schoenberger, who received his A. B. from William and Mary, teaches five periods of history. In addition to his history classes, he was also assistant J. V. football coach and assistant Varsity Basketball coach. Miss Thornhill, teaches three periods of Latin, two of world history and her hobbies are traveling and reading. Mrs. Anderson, who received her M. A. from Bryn Mawr, teaches four periods of U.S. History and one of government. She enjoys reading and music.

PROJECT COMPLETED . . . ALMOST—Casey Lovett labels important battles on her United States History term project.

THIS IS TOWN GOVERNMENT??—Cathy Seiter, Everette Mitchell, Joy Jolliffe, Cris Lindsay, Philip Walker, Ellen Rudy, and Ronnie Mustain get a laugh from one of the members of the Town Council at the meeting in March. The government classes' Junior Town Council attended the meeting in preparation for the "Junior Town Meeting" in April.

YOUR HONORS—"Lawyer" Ronnie Dodson pleads a test case before a Supreme Court of Martha Someville, Brenda Dennis, Benjamin Curtis, Richard Holmes and Teddy Hunt in the 4th period government class.

MAA Test One of Year's Highlights

Mr. John Peifer administered the Mathematical Association of America tests to all Honors Math and Advanced Algebra-Trigonometry students March 9. Ronald Mustain, John Kirkham, and Margaret Williams placed highest.

For the first time geometry students were divided equally into two classes. Mr. Peifer, who previously taught an accelerated course, and Mrs. John Davies, who taught the same course at a slower speed, divided the classes without respect to the students' abilities. Mrs. Davies and Mr. Peifer worked together throughout the year to unify the course.

Math 9 offered a study of general math plus an introductory course in algebra and geometry. Algebra I gave a firm foundation to prepare students for higher mathematics. Algebra II strengthened this foundation and introduced students to quadratic equations, logarithmic functions, and conic sections.

SOMETHING NEW—Mrs. John Davies and Mr. Robert Shoemaker discuss one of the many new books in the mathematics section of the library. Mrs. Davies, sponsor of the National Honor Society, teaches Algebra I and Geometry. Mr. Shoemaker, who received his B.A. from Baylor, teaches Math 8 and Math 9. His hobbies are music and water sports. He will leave for Tokyo, Japan in late August to serve as a journeyman for the Southern Baptist Convention.

FUTURE ENGINEER—Philip Walker is shown the fine points of a slide rule by Mr. John Peifer. Mr. Peifer teaches Geometry, Honors Math, and P.S.S.C. Physics. He earned his M.A. from Bucknell and since then has taken graduate work at Pennsylvania State University and Randolph Macon Women's College. Though his travel is limited, his hobbies are reading and fishing.

CAREFUL NOW—Mrs. Malcolm Mitchell punches out her grades on an electric calculator. Mrs. Mitchell, chairman of the Mathematics Department and teacher of two classes of Algebra II and one class of Advanced Algebra and Trigonometry, is co-sponsor of the Sophomore class.

Honors Math students studied advanced algebra, elementary analytical geometry, and elementary calculus. They also learned how to use a slide-rule.

GENIUS AT WORK—David Griffith reads, attacks, ponders, computes, and solves a problem during the Mathematical Association of America eighty minute test on March 9.

1967 Science Fair Completely Voluntary

Previously mandatory Science Fair projects for all science students became completely voluntary. Although this decreased the number of entries, the department felt that it improved the quality of the Fair.

Early in the spring the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company jetted one science student, Robert Gore, and one teacher, Mr. Thomas Earles, to Murray Hill, New Jersey, for a two-day tour of Bell Telephone Laboratories.

The number of biology classes increased to nine sections, two classes greater than the previous seven. The department received a few new pieces of lab equipment; they also obtained a chicken skeleton used for comparative vertebrae study.

Biology classes enjoyed increased lab experience. They dissected worms, both round and segmented, for comparative study. The first half of the year the students studied plants, and devoted the second semester to animal biology. A study of genetics came between, unifying the two divisions.

Classes held on the second floor were often distracted by strange odors emanating from the chemistry lab, where anything from sulfur dioxide to skunk oil was being manufactured. Among the many lab experiments were clocked reactions, studies of factors that effect the rate of chemical reactions, and synthesis.

The Chemistry classes viewed several didactic films, one showing how film is processed by Kodak, a review of oil fires, produced by the American Petroleum Company, and one on nuclear reactions.

Mr. John Peifer emphasized the order of the reports of a lab experiment in the only Physics class. Each student's report was required to contain the name of the experiment, the purpose, equipment used, procedure, specific equations, calculations, and conclusions.

PHYSICS FORUM... Henry Howard explains lab procedure to Robert Gore, Mona Davis, Greg Yates, and Tommy Armstrong.

SEEKING SCIENCE SESAME—Mr. Thomas Earles tells the story of his trip to the Bell Labs in New Jersey to Mrs. Spencer Vaughan, and Mr. Patrick Kearney. Mr. Earles, sponsor of the Safety Patrol and amateur geologist, teaches Chemistry and Physical Science. Mrs. Vaughan, Chairman of the Science Department and co-sponsor of the Sophomore class, teaches Biology and Honors Science. Mr. Kearney received his B.A. degree from VMI. He teaches biology and sponsors the 4-H Club and the Freshman Class. His major interest lies in marine biology.

Spanish III Resumes After 2-Year Lapse

Spanish III class resumed after being omitted from the Spanish program for two years. Students reviewed basic grammar and increased their vocabulary, but most important, they stressed conversational ability.

Spanish II students enjoyed a film tour of famous Mexican tourist haunts narrated in Spanish. They listened to tapes recorded by native Spanish-speaking people dealing with stories contained in the textbook.

Spanish I viewed cartoons of children's fairy tales with Spanish dialogue. Correct pronunciation was greatly stressed throughout the course.

Five students excelling in Latin traveled to the University of Virginia, April 8, to take Latin tests sponsored annually by the Classical Association of Virginia. At least one student represented each class at Charlottesville.

Student participation in forensics was optional, but many English teachers rewarded the students

TRY AGAIN—Miss Laura Thornhill listens to the translation of a passage of Latin IV.

SAY THAT AGAIN—Mrs. William O'Bannon supervises her Spanish I class. Mrs. O'Bannon, sponsor of the SCA, teaches Spanish I, II, III. Reading is her major hobby.

"AND SO MY FELLOW AMERICANS"—Horace Carder delivers his public speaking entry in the March Forensics Meet. Horace took second place.

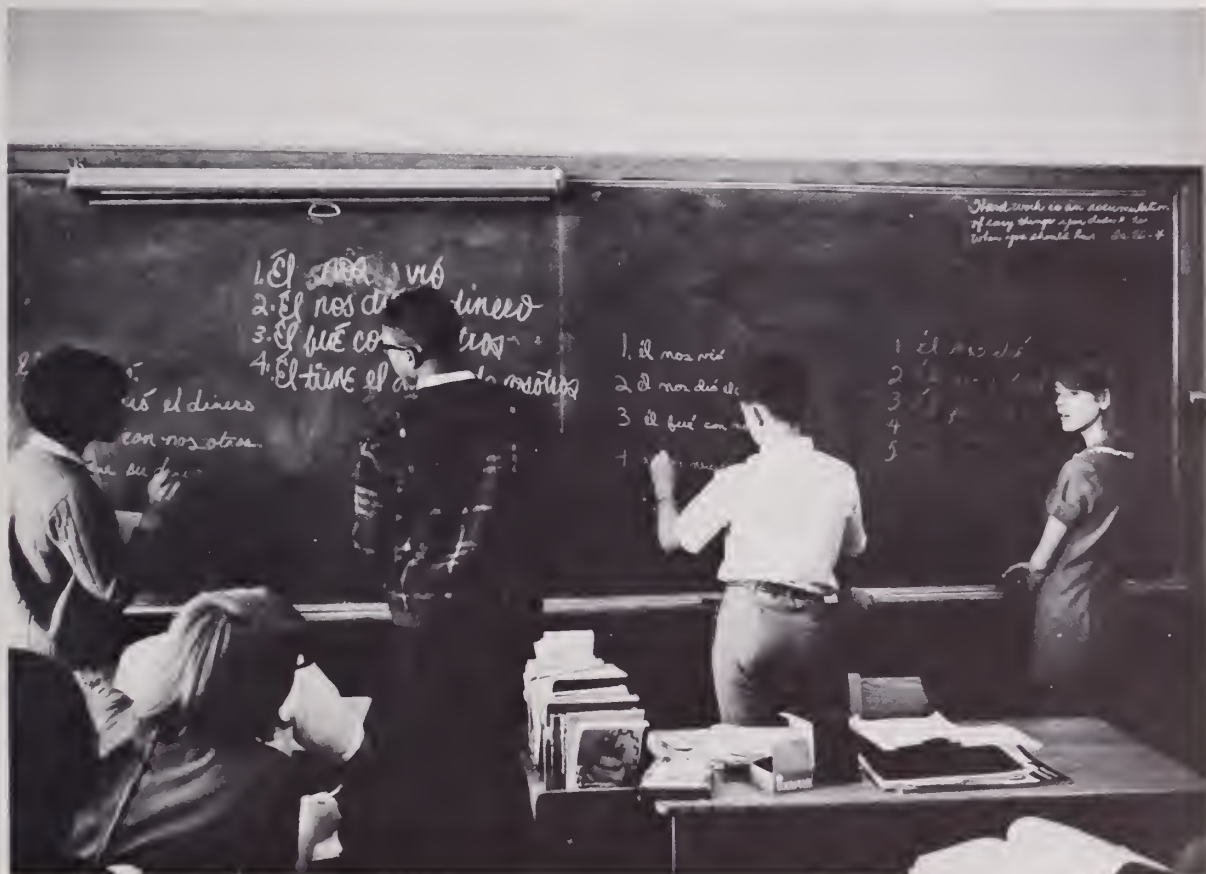

with extra credit. The forensics studies consisted of spelling, public speaking, prose reading, and poetry reading. The participants stayed after school to prepare for the contest under a teacher's directions.

The students attended two workshops—one held at Gar-Field in October and the District Workshop held in Culpeper in February. The first and second place winners of the local contest, held March 17, entered the Battlefield District contest. There, Crisler Lindsay captured second place in boys' public speaking, Cathay Johnson received second in girls' public speaking, and Charles Edwards placed third in boys' prose reading.

CONCENTRATE—Clarke Taylor studies his Latin IV textbook in class.

HE SAW US IS RIGHT—Joyce Stevens, foreground, gives a close scrutiny to the Spanish board work of Dorothy Nibblins, John Mayhew, Randolph Hoffman, and Doreen Kilby.

Art Class Doubles, Musicians Direct

The enrollment of the art classes doubled, causing overcrowded conditions and limited supplies. The classes often divided into small groups to work on different projects.

Major projects consisted of stitchery, ceramics, sculpture, painting, throwing on the potter's wheel, and copper enameling. The students chose their favorite of these projects and completed a masterpiece to be exhibited in the spring "Tots & Teens Art Show," sponsored by the Culpeper Chapter of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts.

Second semester the students completed a project of their choice once a week.

Mr. Paul Losely demonstrated the techniques of creating a mobile. The class also traveled to the library to view a contemporary sculpture exhibit sponsored by the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts. The students particularly liked the idea of attending the exhibit during their art class. They also attended a Japanese contemporary art exhibit independent of class instruction.

Band students enjoyed the privilege of actually directing the band. The class studied music literature, the texture of music, style, and the various periods of music.

Late in March the Virginia Symphony Orchestra presented a program of classics in the school gymnasium. All students, paying twenty-five cents, enjoyed this presentation.

The marching, concert, and stage bands were all selected from the band classes. The sixteen piece stage band was a new addition to the music curriculum. They emphasized popular music and performed before the student body during an assembly March 24.

WORK OF ART—Mrs. Richard Jones glazes a finished piece of pottery. Mrs. Jones teaches two periods of Art I and II plus four periods of art at Ann Wingfield. She teaches an adult class of Arts and Crafts at the high school one night a week. She is an active member of the Culpeper Chapter of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts.

ONE AND TWO AND ONE AND—Mr. Walter Thomas directs the instrumental music class during second period. Mr. Thomas, instrumental music instructor, sponsors the concert, marching bands, and the stage band. His biography appeared in the 1966 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America. He was the recipient of the Outstanding Young Educator award from the Culpeper Jaycees. Other than music, he enjoys sports.

NO BEATLES HERE— Robert Inskeep and Billy Hill beat out the drum section's part to the "Washington Post March."

TURN, TURN, TURN—Lou Leake forms a vase on the potter's wheel in the Art Room.

THE SUBJECT WAS ART—Cathy Seiter reports on Colonial artist, John Singleton Copely, at the February DAR meeting.

SOUNDS A LITTLE FLAT . . . Mr. William Hacker conducts the Virginia Symphony Orchestra on March 29. He appeared at CCHS in a piano concert in the fall.

'Home Work' is Required in Home Ec.

Overcrowded conditions made the regular use of facilities difficult and home projects mandatory. The students were required to complete a home project during the time spent studying each area of home economics.

All classes spent twelve weeks studying foods. This course consisted of both nutrition studies and experimenting with preparing foods.

The agriculture program provided a good foundation for those planning to further their agriculture studies in college or those beginning work immediately after high school.

Agriculture I was mainly about crop production and Agriculture II about animal science. Third year agriculture students furthered their study in these two fields. Students taking Agriculture IV devoted their studies to farm machinery.

Preparing students for full-time employment, DE I students explored the different fields before actually securing a job. Students promoted to DE II obtained part-time jobs and studied techniques of salesmanship, window displays, newspaper advertisements, good salesmanship tips, and downtown and shopping center promotion.

The joyous graduates received diplomas printed by the shop class as one of the projects involving the printing press.

Carpentry students created cedar chests, footlockers, and lamps.

GO, PREXY, GO—Mr. Danny Bruffey whoops it up on the Class Day 1966 Program . . . Mr. Bruffey teaches Distributive Education I, II, and III, an Industrial Cooperative Training I. Mr. Bruffey is also sponsor of DECA, VICA, assistant sponsor of the SCA, and president-elect of the Culpeper County Education Association.

"NOW I SEE IT THIS WAY"—Mrs. Randall Blankenship expresses her views on the Forensic Day menu. Mrs. Blankenship, teacher of four classes of Home Economics, also sponsors the Future Homemakers of America.

"WE'LL NEED TWO YARDS ALTOGETHER," Peggy Jenkins, second from left, instructs Hallie Huet, Elvira Mosley and Carolyn Gibson of the home economics class. They are measuring material for curtains in the Home Economics room.

THE MASTER BUILDER—Mr. Ed Weld checks one of the drawings in the Mechanical Drawing class. Mr. Weld teaches Mechanical Drawing and Industrial Arts. His hobby is wood-working.

HOT STUFF—Mr. Shirley Broyles prepares to weld two pieces of iron. He teaches three classes of Vocational Agriculture and sponsors the Future Farmers of America.

LONG HOURS FINALLY PAID OFF—Helen James is Receiving her diploma from Mrs. John Wilson, R.N. at the commencement exercises of the Pre-Clinical Nursing Class.

NO, NOT THAT WAY—Claude Schuermann selects the correct type to go into a business card.

Co-Eds Exchange Athletic Knowledge

Early in the fall girls' physical education classes taught the boys how to play hockey, and the boys demonstrated football skills and rules to the girls. This was the first coeducational physical education program in CCHS. Students even found themselves looking forward to these Wednesdays during the second six weeks. Tests were administered to each group on material presented.

Tenth grade health students bought a personal copy of the textbook. This improved the health courses, that had been handicapped because the textbooks, which were school property, could not be used outside the classroom.

Physical Fitness Tests were administered to all physical education classes. Ratings were either good, fair, or poor. Six-hundred yard walk-run, sixty yard dash, bobbing, shuddle run, sit-ups, pull-ups, and tip-ups composed the tests.

Ninth grade classroom studies consisted of driver's education, first aid, and health. Boys' physical education concentrated on football, basketball, and baseball fundamentals. Girls worked on field hockey, soccer, basketball, gymnastics, and softball.

Gymnastics activities consisted of tumbling, the parallel bars, the horse, and the trampoline. The students made up their own routines for each division. The routines were graded on difficulty and the skill in which they were executed. The especially talented students represented the school in the first gymnastics tournament held in the Battlefield District at James Monroe, April 7. Juniors and seniors were also eligible.

ON THE EDGE OF HIS CHAIR—Mr. William Wenzel observes intently the action of the basketball team during the James Monroe game. Mr. Wenzel, Athletic Director and chairman of the Health and Physical Education Department, teaches ninth and tenth grade physical education and driver's education. He was voted Coach of the Year in 1966 by the Virginia High School League Basketball Officials' Association. A member of the local Sports Club, Mr. Wenzel likes to hunt and fish.

"THE LINE-UP TODAY WILL BE"—Mrs. Lloyd Fagg goes over the starting roster for the hockey season. Mrs. Fagg, head hockey and varsity girls' basketball coach, is a teacher of girls physical education.

READY FOR THE JUMP—Walter Rankin and Mark Powers prepare to receive the toss from Instructor William Wenzel during an intramural basketball game.

EASY NOW—Mr. James Chapman lines off the gridiron for the Homecoming contest between Spotsylvania and Culpeper. Mr. Chapman, sponsor of Boys' Junior Monogram Club, received his B. S. degree from East Tennessee State University.

HYPNOTISM MADE EASY—Mrs. Lloyd Fagg seems to have complete control over her fourth period girls' Physical Education class.

"NOW HERE'S THE DEAL"—Mrs. William Houck explains the student picture prices to Brenda Jones—Mrs. Houck, chairman of the Business Department, sponsor of the Future Business Leaders of America, and member of the Board of Directors of the Virginia Business Education Association, often supervises students on the job.

Department Gains Office Equipment

New pieces of modern office equipment for the Business Department included both electric and manual typewriters. Used for the first time, General Business for Everyday Living, emphasized economic education.

Mrs. Howard McCall taught an adult shorthand class each Thursday night.

Preparing students for future vocations and providing valuable knowledge for practical application, the department offered training in many fields. Ninety per cent of the graduates took Typing I, making it the school's most popular elective.

DEPARTMENT MEETING—Mrs. Albert Furguele and Miss Barbara Kinsey discuss the upcoming FBLA trip. Mrs. Furguele, who teaches Typing, Business Law, and Shorthand, co-sponsors the FBLA. Her hobbies are sewing and golf. Miss Kinsey, teacher of Shorthand, Typing I, and Bookkeeping, co-sponsors the Jr. FBLA.

A.S.D.F.—Nancy Horton warms up in Miss Kinsey's second period Typing I class.

HERE SHE COMES—Mrs. Robert Yeaman dodges Harriet Malnowski during the Faculty-Girls' Monogram basketball game. Mrs. Yeaman, co-sponsor of the Jr. FBLA and SCA, teaches one class of Shorthand, two periods of General Business and two of Typing I. Golf, bridge, reading, and swimming occupy her spare time.

Library Shelves Over 500 New Books

Benefiting from P.L. 89-10 Title II funds, library resources increased. More than 500 books above the usual annual purchase found their way to the library shelves.

Mrs. Malcolm Mitchell took charge of the library during the fourth period while Miss Mary George Bolen, Librarian, worked with the COLONNADE staff.

Serving his first year as guidance counselor, Mr. Robert McGee held a conference with every student to organize his academic schedule. The department kept up-to-date material on vocations and colleges for the student's use. Personal counseling also answered students' questions on education and job opportunities.

The department administered Scholastic Aptitude Test, National Merit Qualifying Tests, and School and College Ability Tests and Sequential Tests of Educational Progress.

A PRESENT FOR YOU—David Yancey and Harold Brown admire a handbag given to Miss Mary George Bolen by THE COLONNADE staff at the banquet. Miss Bolen, an active member of the Salem Garden Club, is adviser of THE COLONNADE, co-sponsor of the Library Club, and librarian.

FUTURE PLANNING—Jack Colahan is advised about his next year's schedule by Guidance Counselor, Mr. Robert McGee. Mr. McGee received his M.A. from Appalachian State Teachers College and his B.S. from Wake Forest. He is JV Basketball coach.

INTEROFFICE MEMO—Mrs. Powell Button and Mrs. Andrew Brown compare records in the office. Mrs. Button, bookkeeper, occupies her spare time by knitting. Mrs. Brown teaches two periods of Guidance and three classes of girls' Phys. Ed. She coaches the girls' Varsity Basketball Team.

RIGHT PEG WRONG HOLE—Carroll Stringfellow uses the peg board for a manual dexterity section of the General Aptitude Test Battery.

ONE DOWN, FOUR MORE TO GO—Mrs. James Taylor types her study hall rolls. Confined to the four bleak walls of the Activity Room, Mrs. Taylor supervises over 400 students daily in her five periods of study hall. During her "spare" time, she reads, knits, and writes letters.

FIRST OF THE MONTH—Doreen Kilby scans the magazine rack.

STUDENT LIFE

Caught up in a continuous whirl of activities students strove for achievements in literary and artistic pursuits. Gymnastics, an unorganized sport, attracted many. With everyday occurrences like friendly chatting or fighting crowds came distinct trends. The core of student life is perhaps best cap-suled in the enthusiasm to conform.

FALL

School Opens Early to Allow for Snow

MINUS THIRTY CENTS—Paula Wood receives less change from Jon Conner and Cris Lindsay. The prices of lunches went up a nickel.

I'LL TAKE AUSTEN TO TOLSTOY—Stanley Hawkins and Luther Stanley staple sophomore reading lists together in the library during the first week of school.

DOUBLE SPACE—Corky Brown measures letters for the Good Sportsmanship Code, displayed at both ends of the gymnasium.

After three months of relaxation, students returned to CCHS on August 26. Buying activity tickets, insurance, and books, adjusting to schedules, and changing schedules filled the first days of school with the usual chaos.

For the first year seniors wore their class rings on the first day of school. Other new features around the school were the flashing lights on the highway at the school entrance and the improved parking lot. The activity period moved from the usual Friday afternoon last period to Wednesday morning first period.

The clubs organized on the "first-three-Wednesdays" plan and opened their rolls for new members.

September 5 brought Labor Day relief for some students, while others labored to complete projects for the September 10 County Art Fair.

The SCA's newly elected president Cris Lindsay, vice-president Jane Hudson, secretary Anne Thomas, and treasurer Jack Beard installed home-room representatives in the annual installation assembly on September 15.

Students posed for the COLONNADE individual portraits on September 27 and 28.

Mona Davis, CCHS Homecoming Queen

Returning to the former system, the student body elected its own Homecoming Queen. The polling showed Mona Davis a favorite with Dorothy Ankers Maid of Honor. Other attendants of the Queen's court were Melanie Glascock, Judith Carter, Grace Jimenez, Jane Hudson, Alison Graves, and Cynthia Thomas. The September 23 Homecoming game with Spotsylvania attracted many Devil fans from the county as well as from the high school.

GO, GET 'EM DEVILS—Steve Lane, Bill Foster, Bobby Inskeep, and Steve Will cheer the Devils on to victory in an October game.

SPAGHETTI A LA FINGERS—Casey Lovett smiles through Monogram initiation, assisted by Alycia Farrar and Metta Harris.

PLAYING WITH FIRE—Returning from a summer training camp, Sammy Walker shows off his newly acquired routines.

FOR THE LAST TIME—Nancy Tanner goes over her SCAT & STEP test which is given to Juniors and Seniors in the fall.

CCHS'ers in District Forensic Contest

Twenty-nine students boarded a bus to attend the district forensic workshop at Gar-Field early on Saturday morning October 15. The students picked up pointers in public speaking, prose reading, and poetry reading.

Seniors and juniors spent the October 17 College Day discussing the many facets of college life with representatives from three colleges. More than 50 schools and colleges participated in the program.

College bound juniors took the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Tests on Saturday, October 22. The tests enable students to become familiar with the types of problems that will be in next year's college boards.

The General Aptitude Test Battery ushered in November to show in what skills students excelled.

Students enjoyed the November 4 holiday as teachers attended the VEA meeting in Richmond.

Parents participated in CCHS's Back-to-School night in commemoration of National Education Week. Many parents received "warning slips" from school monitors for going up the down stairs and being in the halls during classes.

The FFA held its annual soil judging contest on November 9.

The pre-Christmas holiday days were highlighted by the Band's Christmas concert and the annual Christmas pageant presented by the Y-Clubs. After the pageant, students left for a welcomed vacation from December 22 until January 2.

THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE—Charles Edwards, Cathy Stringfellow, Margaret Williams count ballots to determine whom students favor as candidates for the 1968 Presidential election and Senator Robert Kennedy came out on top.

"IS THAT IN THE CENTER?"—Jean Graham makes the final adjustments on her November bulletin board.

General Motors Entertains Student Body

Students attended "Previews of Progress" and enjoyed a program designed to demonstrate the areas of research in General Motors Corporation's modern laboratories.

After the exhaustive exam schedule, students had January 20 off, while teachers worked on school records and students' reports.

In the annual National Honor Society assembly Captain John S. Kearns USN talked to the student body about his experiences in Vietnam. The talk was highlighted by color slides that Capt. Kearns had taken aboard his ship during his recent tour of duty there.

A teachers' meeting on February 10 brought another holiday for students.

Juniors ordered their class rings on February 13 from a representative of the L. G. Balfour Company. The ring shipment will arrive in time for juniors to wear them during the summer, since, technically speaking, they will be seniors upon completion of their junior year.

The SCA elections dominated CCHS during the last half of February. Twenty candidates ran in the primary, and the eight finalists were chosen. An extensive campaign followed with posters covering most of CCHS's wall space. Each candidate had a campaign manager this year for the first time. He assisted with the posters and spoke to the student body in behalf of his candidate on election day. The newly elected president David Martin, vice president Alan Myers, secretary Anne Thomas, and treasurer Hugh Eggborn will lead the 1967-68 student body.

FBLA members and guests attended their annual banquet in the Culpeper Firehall, while other CCHSers went to Fort Hunt High School, Alexandria, Virginia, to support the Blue Devils in the basketball tournament.

THE BLOODY RED BARON OR THE MIGHTY BLUE DEVIL?—The CCHS pennant stands proudly amid Devil supporters and arouses school spirit. The pennants were sold by the Girls' Monogram Club.

ROSES IN THE SNOW—Students and teachers leave CCHS to attend "The Subject Was Roses," a dramatic presentation by the Virginia Theater players. The play was presented at the Pitt's Theater players. The play was presented at the Pitt's Theater in December.

ART LOVERS—Gerald Fox, Richard Wood, and Ronald Frazier contemplate an early masterpiece in the Art Mobile of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, which visited CCHS on March 15.

AWAY IN THE MANGER—David Carpenter and Mona Davis enact the manger scene in the annual Hi-Y Christmas Pageant.

Sgt. Pike Brings Safety Show to CCHS

Sergeant Carl S. Pike, who had recently performed on NBC's "The Tonight Show", entertained the student body with his famous "Safety Magic" program. Sgt. Pike used magical tricks and humor to illustrate the good and bad driving habits and attitudes of teen-agers.

Donna Dowell, a former CCHS student, returned as a mystery player on the faculty team in the Girls' Monogram basketball game. The girls, however, also had a mystery player—Mr. Robert Kearney, CCHS biology teacher.

Five American Field Service students were guests at CCHS on March 3. Dottie Ankers, chairman of the AFS committee, introduced them to the student body in an assembly. The students then talked briefly about the school systems and life in general in their native countries.

The Art Mobile of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts gave students an opportunity to view seventeenth and eighteenth century paintings and sculptures on March 15.

About fifty trigonometry and Honors Math students gathered in the library on March 9, under the supervision of Mr. John S. Peifer, physics and mathematics teacher, to take the American Mathematical Association test. The three-highest scorers, in order, were Ronnie Mustain, John Kirkham, and Margaret Williams.

The staff of the COLONNADE put the finishing touches to their school yearbook as winter's end drew near.

STUDY HARD OR BRING RABBIT'S FOOT?—Harvey Clatterbuck conquers the dilemma by deciding to study for his Friday 13th exam.

GO, GO, CULPEPER—CCHSers give their support to the Blue Devils in the tournament basketball game at Stafford County High School on February 18.

HOPES, DOUBTS, AND FULFILLMENT!—Jo Aylor and friends Brenda Weakley and Connie Gordon pass through the moods of the February 14 basketball game with Stonewall Jackson.

ASSEMBLIES, ASSEMBLIES, ASSEMBLIES!—Cleide Riva-Campelo of Brazil describes life in her country to the student body in the March assembly. Cleide is a part of the American Field Service. Cris Lindsay proudly accepts first prize in the "I Speak for Democracy" contest from Mrs. Browning Coughlin. The contest was sponsored in March by the local chapter of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Sergeant Carl Pike discusses driving habits with the student body in the February assembly. Sgt. Pike demonstrated driving habits with feats of magic.

Students Enjoy Six Day Easter Vacation

The Easter Bunny brought a six day vacation for students March 23 through 28. The lengthy holiday gave students a long-needed break from the routine schedule but delayed the graduation exercises for four days.

The Junior Town Council met with Culpeper's Town Council during its monthly meeting on April 4. Student members actually handled some of the town's business, debated current issues, and voted on the issues, under the supervision of the Town Council members.

Jean Graham, Catherine Stringfellow, Jonathan Conner, and Thomas Armstrong spent April 13 through 15 in Richmond to attend the Model General Assembly and to learn the principles and procedures of Virginia government.

Many Culpeper forensic winners entered the April 8 district competition at Woodbridge Senior High School.

Science Fair projects and exhibits were not compulsory this year for the first time, but conscientious science students still worked hard and produced enough projects for a worthwhile science fair on April 20.

Alycia Farrar, Alan Myers, and Mrs. Aubrey Ross of the Pepergram and Cathy Nicholls, Gregory Yates, Constance Gordon, and Miss Mary George Bolen of the COLONNADE attended the Southern Interscholastic Press Association workshop at Washington and Lee University and picked up pointers for next year's publications. Both the Pepergram and the COLONNADE took first place in their respective categories.

Juniors took the May 6 College Boards in hopes of making scores high enough to apply for early acceptance next fall.

'ATTA GIRL. CAROL—Carolyn Abernathy balances herself on the parallel bars in preparation for the gymnastics meet at James Monroe on April 8.

LAW AND ORDER—Tony Troilo gives a warning slip to Dorothy Cave for picking one of the season's first dandelions.

WHEW, WHAT HEAT!—Judy Waple and Mary Barrell enjoy the three days of warm weather in early spring.

IT'S THAT TIME OF YEAR—Trackmen run laps around the school in early spring to get in shape for the approaching competition.

HOORAY FOR US!—Greg Yates of the COLONNADE and Alan Myers of the Pepergram celebrate their first place trophies. Both publications received top rating at the March SIPA convention.

MASS CONFUSION—Student drivers leave the parking lot each afternoon in a somewhat disorganized fashion.

Upperclasses Enjoy Junior-Senior Prom

The Junior-Senior Prom brought an evening of formal attire for the upperclassmen and their dates. The Decorating Committee adorned the gymnasium with colorful ribbons and other decorative accessories.

Underclassmen as well as seniors enjoyed the May 18 Class Day festivities. The Senior Class practiced for the Class Day Comedy Show and graduation exercises, while the lower classes attended their usual morning subjects. Seniors had such special privileges as receiving their COLONNADES early, eating on a special lunch shift, and being excused from classes for the entire day. The student body enjoyed the Comedy Show, which was highlighted by musicians from the Senior Class.

All boys and girls who had participated in sports during the year attended the May 19 athletic banquet. This was the first year both the boys and the girls had a joint banquet with a joint speaker.

The 180th day of school and the sixth period exam concluded the school year simultaneously, and students were free for the summer.

Teachers had workdays June 6 through 9, and students picked up their report cards on June 8 at the school or received them by mail.

Graduation exercises brought a large crowd to view the seniors' final few moments of high school. Both students and mothers shed tears of joy and tears of sorrow as the graduating class walked the halls for the last time.

BEST WISHES—Melanie Glascock, Henry Howard, Tom Griffin, and Eddie Garrison sign their friends' COLONNADES for the last time.

IS HE LANDING OR TAKING OFF?—Mr. Lloyd Cregger gives a welcomed signal to one of the members of the girls' softball team during their first game.

I PROTEST—David Owen and John Barret jovially make fun of the recent Vietnam demonstration.

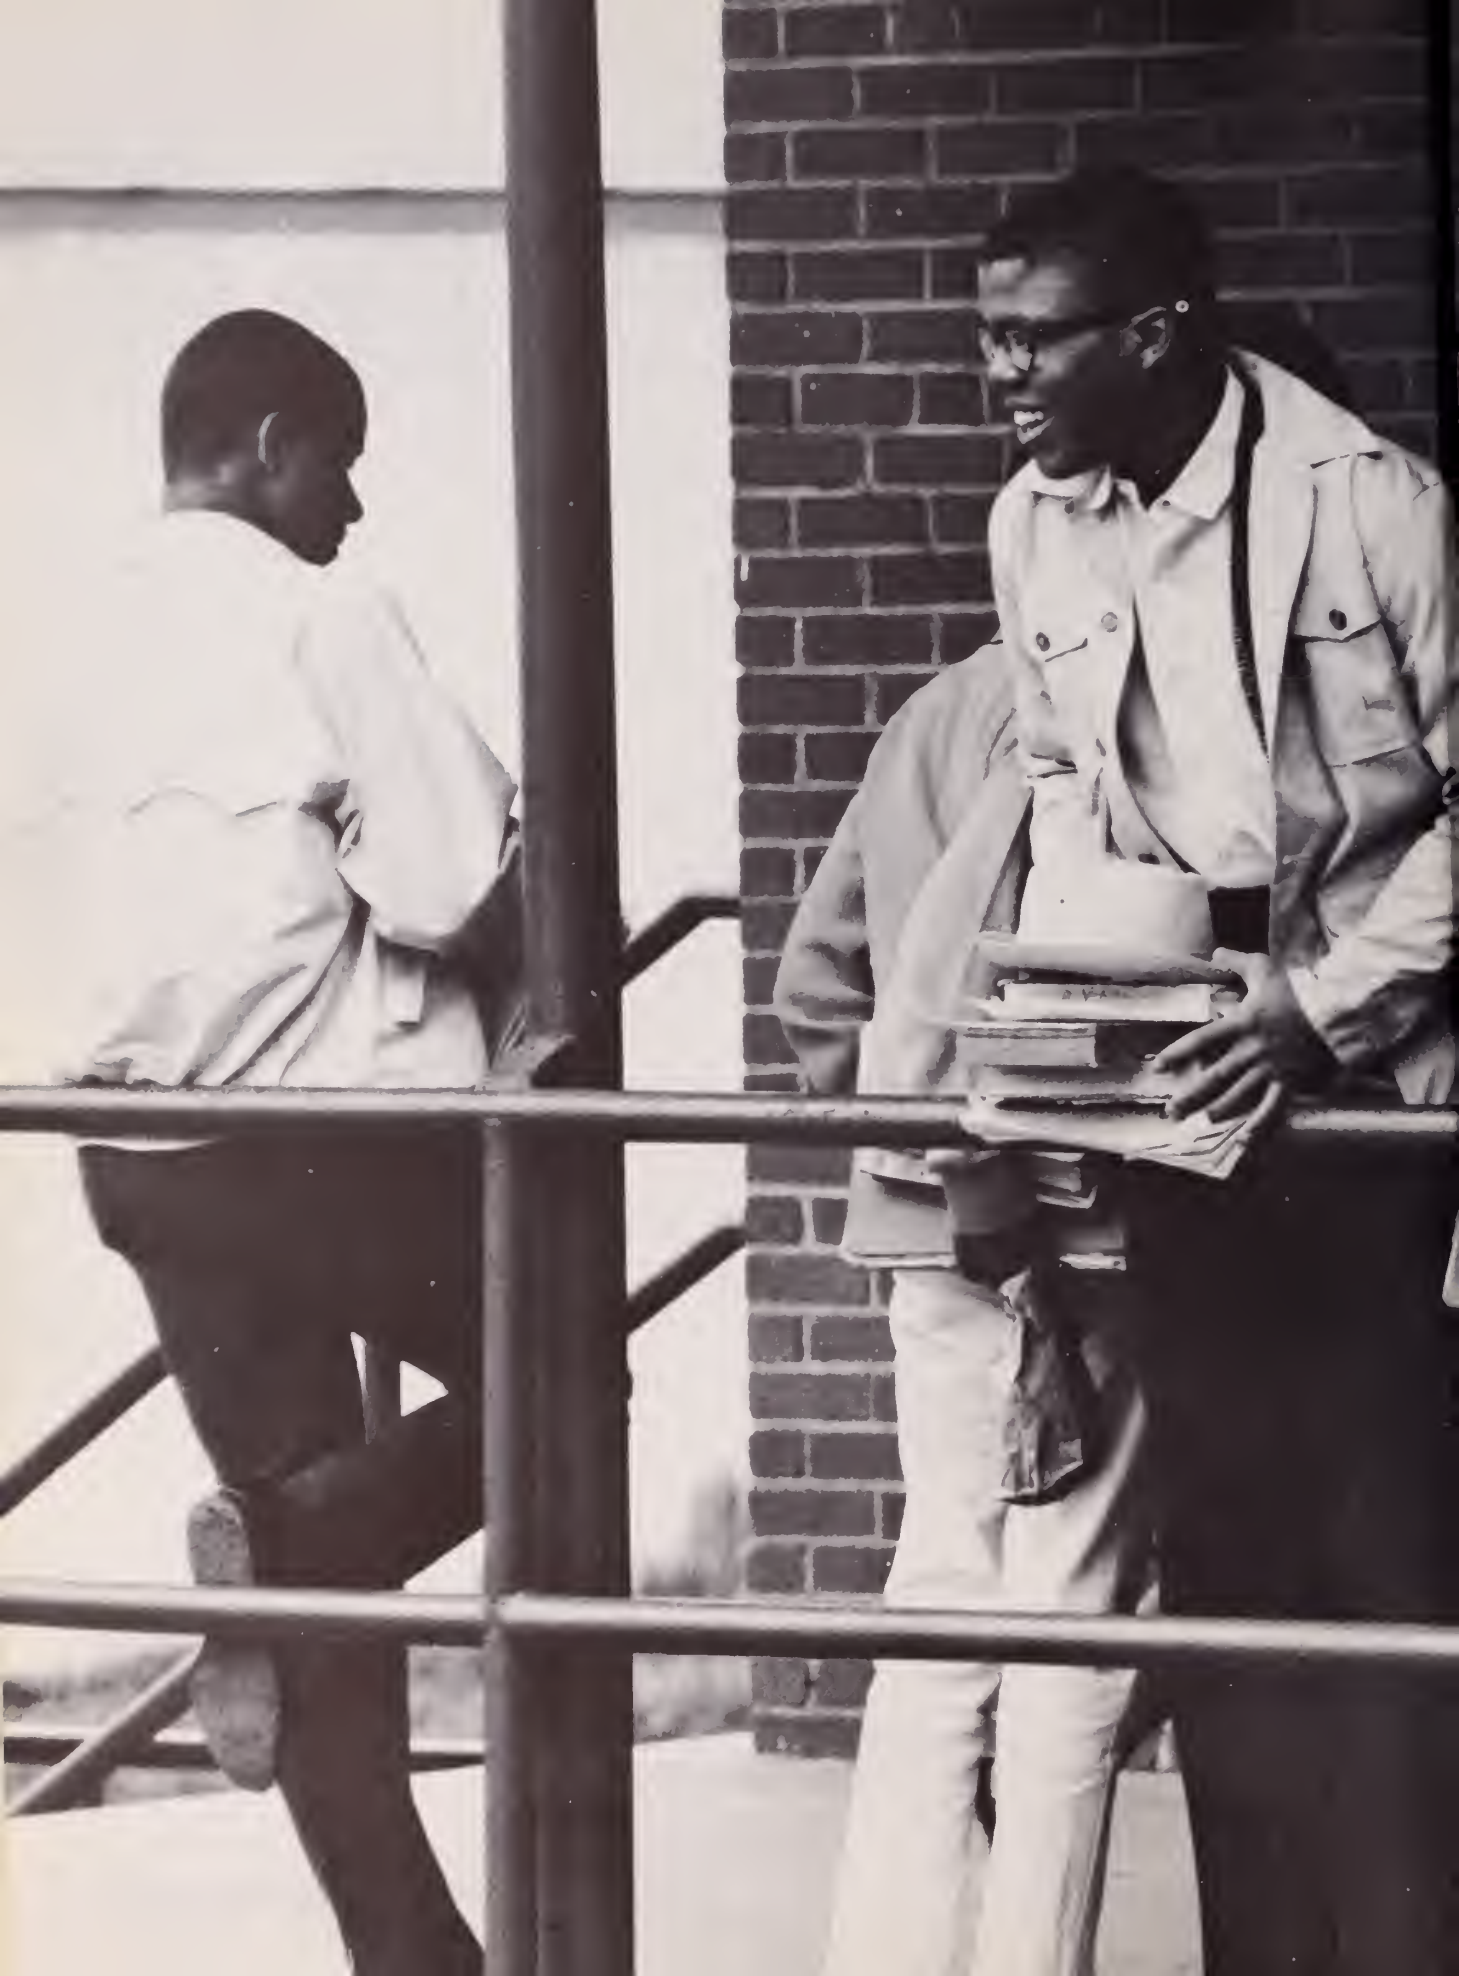

"I COULD HAVE DANCED ALL NIGHT"—Freddie Harris, Patti Bill Willis, Priscilla Weakley, and Jeff Carpenter enjoy the festivities of the annual Junior-Senior Prom.

WHEN THE DAY IS DONE—Students depart cheerfully for home after a hard day's work.

STUDENTS

For the first time Junior High School students, as such, crowded into CCHS. Juniors selected a modern style class ring and reviewed the practice of selecting a Prom King and Queen. To protect Seniors privileges, Seniors issued identification cards. This removal of old and addition of new developed an atmosphere of growth among classes.

Ankers, Jolliffe Chosen to Guide Seniors

One hundred forty-two seniors made plans for the future as they finished their last year of high school. Fifty-one percent of the class applied to either college, business school or technical school. Many others planned to enter the business world.

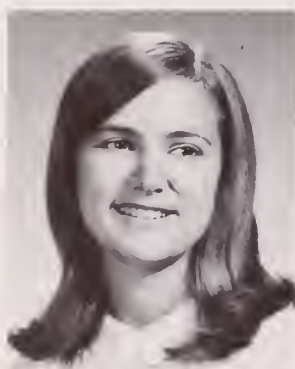

College Preparatory students took College Entrance Examination Board Tests in December, and in March Business students took the first combined Civil Service Test given here. The test was for typists and stenographers interested in working for any branch of the government. To learn their aptitude for computer programming 11 seniors took an IBM aptitude test. The GATB, General Aptitude Test Battery, was given to those wishing to learn for what vocational fields they were suited.

The class chose as their motto: "The Sky's the Limit" and for their class colors: Blue and Gold. Seniors presented the class day program on May 26. Graduating seniors received their diplomas from Superintendent of Schools Brent Sandidge June 9.

JUNIORS

Class Selects David Martin as President

Juniors decorated the gym as a southern plantation for the Junior-Senior Prom held on May 13. Using a new idea the class made plans to elect a king and queen for the dance. Stationery sold by members of the class financed the decorations, band, and refreshments. A bake sale also furnished money for the treasury.

The year abounded with tests for the 164 juniors. In the fall the entire class took SCAT and STEP, and many took PSAT, Preliminary Scholastic Achievement Tests. College-bound students were given the College Entrance Examination Board Tests in May. Twenty-one juniors, twice the usual number, competed for scholarships by taking the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Tests.

Juniors who were prospective 1968 seniors placed orders for class rings in February to be secured in May. The new style rings were more deeply engraved and had solid backs.

Members of the Sophomore class were active in many extracurricular clubs and sports. Sophomores were eligible to join senior clubs that they were not eligible for last year, and many participated in both junior varsity and varsity sports. The National Honor Society issued invitations to twenty-one students to become probationary members.

Even though College Day is usually reserved for juniors and seniors, sophomore boys had the opportunity to hear talks given by representatives from the Armed Services.

Twenty-two sophomores made the first semester honor roll. Only one behind the juniors the class had the second highest number of honor roll students.

Six homerooms, five upstairs and one behind the gym, housed the 193 sophomores.

OFFICERS FOR THE CLASS OF '70—Mrs. Spencer Vaughan, adviser; Kay Mustain, treasurer; Rebecca Bailey, vice president; Mr. Robert Kearney, adviser; standing. Jo Yates, secretary; Rixey Chilton, president; seated.

Freshmen entered high school as the first class to have completed the eighth grade at Ann Wingfield Junior High School. The 220 students occupied four homerooms in the white building and two on the second floor of the main building. They began their chosen course of study: general, business, or college preparatory.

School and College Ability Tests and the Sequential Tests of Educational Progress, better known as SCAT and STEP, were given to the class in late September. Results were later explained to the class by Mr. Robert McGee, guidance director. With the help of Mr. McGee freshmen during March planned their schedules for next year.

Because of the absence of an eighth grade freshmen were permitted for the first time to join the senior clubs, Tri-Hi-Y and Cloak and Dagger Clubs. Only the Junior Monogram and the Junior FBLA remained as junior clubs.

..... AND THE WHITE BUILDING IS OVER HERE—Randy Griffith and Mary Crane walk to the white building where many freshmen classes meet.

ORGANIZATIONS

Fusing talents evolved when junior and senior clubs combined. The transition from the Friday afternoon activity schedule to the Wednesday morning one brought criticism and praise. At pep rallies cheerleaders picketed for school spirit. Through club work students projected abilities and formed attitudes of cooperation.

Culpeper Leaders In District, State

Cris Lindsay, vice president of the state, was the keynote speaker at the District meeting at Ladysmith High School in October. Anne Thomas was a discussion group leader, Mona Davis—a recorder, and Macol Hash—district vice chairman.

To improve SCA-PTA relationships, the SCA contributed to a building fund in Richmond. The building was a joint project for both associations.

Ellen Rudy, Anne Thomas, and Macol Hash worked with the National Honor Society to try to design a workable honor system.

At the beginning of the school year, each student received a membership card to signify that he belonged to the SCA.

Previously installed committee chairmen and SCA officers inducted homeroom representatives, class officers, and club presidents in the first assembly.

Members adapted a policy of having campaign managers for candidates running for SCA offices. This way of handling the campaigns was very successful. Enthusiasm and posters were great.

Dottie Ankers was president-elect, David Martin's manager. Macol Hash managed Jane Hudson's. He also handled the new vice president, Alan Myer's campaign. Carolyn Abernathy was Temple Adair's manager. Secretary Anne Thomas chose Gracie Jimenez. Jo Aylor campaigned for Connie Gordon. Hugh Eggborn, treasurer, picked Kay Partlow, and Patty Stringfellow managed Andy Davies' campaign. These managers presented their candidates by making a speech for them before each candidate spoke on election day.

ALL SMILES—Jack Beard, treasurer; Jane Hudson, vice president; Cris Lindsay, president; Mr. Danny Bruffey, Mrs. Robert Yeaman, Mrs. William O'Bannon, sponsors, ponder the business of the next SCA meeting.

"NOW WE DO IT THIS WAY"—Peggy Gall from Woodbridge talks with Anne Thomas, Mona Davis, and Jill Anderson, also from Woodbridge, on Exchange Day.

WILL HE KEEP THOSE CAMPAIGN PROMISES?—Against a backdrop of colorful election posters, Alan Myers, successful candidate for SCA veep, asks the student body for support.

"WHERE'S THE SUNDIAL?"—ask SCA committee chairmen Joseph Troilo, Dorothy Ankers, Hugh Eggborn, Grace Jimenez, David Martin, Jean Graham, Jonathan Conner, Coralie Brown, and Mona Davis.

FTA Sells Toothbrushes for Scholarship

WATCHING FOR THE MAILMAN—Mrs. Wayne Duncan, adviser; Karen Alther, president; Martha Somerville, secretary; Sue Curtis, treasurer; Brenda Thornhill, vice-president, wait for their FTA pins to arrive.

Hoping that they might once more present their traditional scholarship at commencement, the Future Teachers of America promoted bright smiles around CCHS by selling toothbrushes for three months, starting in mid November.

The scholarship, which was not presented last year due to lack of funds, added thirty dollars to the college fund of a senior who planned to enter the teaching profession.

Fifteen-minute color films gave FTA members a glimpse into college life in February. "How to Choose Your College" and "Your Freshman Year in College" oriented Future Teachers for dormitory life and the rigors of their first year at school.

Identifying students as FTA-ers, distinctive pins, ordered in April, adorned collars and coats. In addition to the regular membership pins, officers displayed special guards signifying their positions.

Giving pointers on job interviews, Mr. Henry Conner, director of instruction, explained in May what qualities he looked for in applicants.

"THE PROGRAM FOR TODAY"—informs David Yancey before a film is projected.

43 Accept NHS Invitations in November

REVIEWING MINUTES—Kay Partlow, vice president; Hugh Eggborn, treasurer; Mona Davis, president; and Mary Barrell, secretary, glance over October's minutes.

A record number of forty-three new members entered the National Honor Society in November. Because the club adopted a new policy, students who had rejected their invitations in the sophomore year were allowed to join in their junior or senior year if they still met qualifications.

Captain John T. S. Kearns showed slides and presented a talk on Vietnam at the NHS assembly on January 26.

Joining forces with the SCA in an eight-man committee, Mona Davis, Kay Partlow, Stephen Will, and Brian Young attempted to find out about honor systems in other schools. When the committee first met on January 17, they decided to send letters to twenty-six schools in Virginia and several other states to obtain information.

Raising their goal to $350, members sold Kathryn Beich candy from March 13 through March 29. The profits enabled the NHS to present its annual scholarship awards to a senior member at commencement.

Mary Barrell and Hugh Eggborn acted as co-chairmen of the committee in charge of the sale. Others who served were Dorothy Ankers, Templeton Adair, David Buswell, and Mona Davis. High salesman won a $5 prize.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY NEW MEMBERS—Front row: Judith Carter, Lawre Stringfellow, Doris Burrough, Deborah Long, Stephen Will, Catherine Miller, Linda Payne, Carolyn Alsop, Karen Pierce, Virginia Snead, Doreen Kilby. Second row: Dorothy Ankers, Brian Young, Roger Fulton, Samuel Lanham, Harriet Furguele, John Inskeep, Jean Graham, Peggy Myers, Templeton Adair, Patricia Ankers. Third row: Miriam Kirkland, Barbara Clatterbuck, Eleanor LeSueur, Patricia Stringfellow, Priscella Weakley, Shirley Jenkins, Cathy Nicholls, Bonnie Bailey, Elizabeth Huse, Thomas Gore. Fourth row: Ronald Mustain, Paul Wohlleben, Benjamin Curtis, David Compton, Martha Somerville, Malcolm Mitchell, Ashby Marks, Jonah Thomas, Charles Settle, Sanford Batten, David Buswell. Missing from picture: Connie Bailey.

WHICH SHALL IT BE?—Mrs. John Davies, NHS adviser, faces a difficult decision as she chooses from the four kinds of candy Warren Henson is selling.

IT'S A SERIOUS MATTER—Captain John T. S. Kearns, USN, spoke to the student body and showed slides on Viet Nam in the NHS assembly in January.

SAFETY PATROL

Safety Patrol Solves Parking Problem

Safety Patrol members helped solve the parking problem at the football games by assisting in directing fans to parking areas.

Every morning and afternoon these students helped the bus drivers by keeping the other students quiet and well behaved. This allowed the bus driver to attend to his job undisturbed.

The Patrol also supervised the loading of the buses. Helping other students find the correct bus, particularly at the beginning of the year, was another one of their many jobs.

All members left their sixth period class an enjoyable three minutes early. Being dismissed at 3:07 enabled them to go to their lockers to get their books and coats and proceed to supervise the loading of buses.

Mr. Thomas Earles, as adviser, worked with these students to make them safety conscious.

The Safety Patrol members saw several films to help to see what safety means to their lives. Among these films were "Safety First, Second and Third". This General Motors film showed how cars were tested for safety. "Hit and Run Driver", another film they saw, involved a hit and run accident and placed emphasis on what one should do if involved in an accident. They also saw a film titled "Petroleum Fires". This film on prevention and fighting of petroleum fires was put out by American Petroleum.

After a lapse of one year the Club resumed the annual trip, going to the Smithsonian Institution April 8.

EAGER BEAVERS

Dairyman Van Lieu Goes to Waterloo

Ronald Van Lieu traveled to Waterloo, Iowa, as a member of a Virginia 4-H dairy judging team in September. Competing in a national contest at the Dairy Cattle Congress, his team placed second among others from thirty-four states. A second state team which included Keith Harris and James Weaver placed third in the regional contest held at the Virginia State Fair in Richmond in September.

After winning first prize of $25 in the district Youth Speaks Contest, James Weaver competed in the state contest at Natural Bridge on March 2.

The Eager Beavers concentrated on banking during November and December. Miss Dolores Aylor of the Culpeper National Bank conducted a question and answer period after explaining services banks offer. The vice president of the Second National Bank of Culpeper, Mr. Leroy Miller, spoke about car loans at the December meeting.

Selling first-aid kits in November, the 4-H-ers added $10 to their treasury.

Having won a blue ribbon in district competition, John Inskeep gave a dairy demonstration at the 4-H State Short Course at Virginia Polytechnical Institute in July.

Several Eager Beavers submitted record books of their 4-H careers for judging by a state panel in April. Winners will receive awards for their achievements at the VPI short course this summer.

"THINK WE CAN FIT IT ALL IN?"—James Weaver, president; Mr. Robert Kearney, adviser; Joan Anderson, secretary; Keith Harris, vice president; Kenneth Mills, treasurer; John Boldridge, chaplain, check their October schedule.

Amateur Dramatists Adopt Nameplate

Since the club itself underwent several major changes, student dramatists decided to adopt a new title, also.

Two regular monthly meetings in October and November were devoted entirely to the discussion of several names which members had suggested. After spirited debate, "The Masque" and "Devils in Disguise" were cast out in favor of "The Cloak and Dagger."

Along with a new name, the club took in a record number of new members. Because of a merger with the Junior Dramatics Club, the senior members found a large number of freshmen in their troupe.

With the group of dramatists nearly doubled in size, the Cloak and Dagger rated two advisers. Miss Beverly Roark and Miss Eleanor Wright, both newcomers to CCHS, supervised the meetings.

As a result of technical difficulties, the students were unable to present their annual production. However, members tried out for roles in the non-

LIBRARY CLUB

Game Brings Famous Authors to Club

OFFICERS MEET—Mrs. Charles Anderson, Miss Mary George Bolen, advisers; Harriet Furguiele, secretary-treasurer; Ann Holmes, president; Judy Waple, first vice president; Mary Barrell, second vice president, plan meeting.

To help them become more familiar with outstanding authors whose works are found in the local library, Library Club members under the direction of first vice president Judy Waple, program chairman, learned a word association game which used the names of the famous writers. The students guessed the names through clues suggesting unrelated objects or places.

Two student assistants worked in the library during each period as well as twenty minutes before school every morning. Since traffic from two study halls was unusually heavy, sixth period required an extra assistant charging and discharging books at the desk. Shirley Eden was in charge of magazines.

A fifteen-minute color film, "Key to a Future," showed the Library Club that librarianship was a varied field that offered exciting occupations. Members also learned from and were entertained by a film that explained the Dewey Decimal System and the classification of books and magazines.

The Culpeper Town and County Library supplied the club with a "Travelogue of England," which consisted of colorful slides and narration by news commentator Edward R. Morrow. Students viewed many famous landmarks including the Tower of London, Buckingham Palace, Ann Hathaway's cottage, and Big Ben.

In preparation for deciding about an interesting place for their annual excursion, five members told their fellow bookworms at the March meeting about the attractions of the Smithsonian Institute.

Reminding students of the wealth found in books, the club decorated the cafeteria bulletin board in January.

Mrs. Charles Anderson, a newcomer to CCHS, served her first year as Library Club adviser.

Pepergram Sports a Basic Block Head

Basic block style met pro's and con's when the first edition of the PEPERGRAM was distributed in September. Many students could not become accustomed to the simple heading minus the picture of CCHS as background. The staff also created a new position, managing editor, which David Martin filled.

Alycia Farrar and Alan Myers were delegates to the annual Southern Interscholastic Press Association at Washington and Lee University in Lexington from March 30 to April 1. They attended lectures and classes which centered around skills in writing and editing.

SIPA awarded the 1966 PEPERGRAM a first place rating. The paper won a First Place award from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association in its forty-third annual contest which included 1,900 publications from various schools and colleges.

Macol Hash and David Martin spent August 22-26 at the fourth annual Virginia High School Editors' Workshop at Richmond Professional Institute. Sponsored by Mr. Walter Potter, editor and publisher of the CULPEPER STAR-EXPO-NENT, the boys attended special addresses and seminars in the morning and enjoyed tours and planned recreation in the evenings. Classes on reporting, editing, photography and editorials prepared them for their positions on the 1967 PEPERGRAM.

Accompanied by Mrs. Aubrey Ross, Charles Edwards, Ellen Rudy, Elizabeth Shifflette, and Margaret Williams attended a workshop at the University of Richmond in November.

THE BIG THREE... — COLONNADE Business Manager Greg Yates, Adviser Miss Mary George Bolen, and Editor Metta Harris move out into the library to complete the work on the 1967 COLONNADE.

Yearbook Gets New Printer and Outlook

Meeting shortly before school opened, staff heads discussed with Mr. David Wohlleben of the Community Press, the COLONNADE'S new printer, ways of improving the yearbook. Mr. Wohlleben suggested bleeds, two-page spreads, and a change in type. The staff decided on offset for effect.

The Columbia Scholastic Press Association awarded the 1966 COLONNADE its fifth Medalist Award. The book also earned First Class Honor Rating from the National Scholastic Press Association.

Under the direction of Kay Fincham, the circulation staff sold two hundred and fifty yearbooks by December 1 in addition to those bought by activity tickets. "Don't cry in May, buy your COLONNADE today!" was the theme of the campaign.

Constance Gordon, Cathy Nicholls, and Gregory Yates attended the Southern Interscholastic Press Association at Washington and Lee University at the end of March, a month earlier than the accustomed date.

The Board of Publications met February 28 and chose co-editors for the first time. Jean Graham and Gregory Yates will work together on the 1968 COLONNADE along with Samuel Walker, who was chosen business manager.

BAND

Band Wins Superior Rating at Festival

Receiving a rating of one, or "Superior," from each of three judges, the Concert Band made a clean sweep at the Virginia Musical Association District IV-B Band Festival held at Annandale High School on March 10-11. Out of fourteen bands that performed on March 10, the musicians from Culpeper were the only group to achieve the distinction of the highest possible rating.

With $900 made from the sale of the World's Finest Chocolate during October and November, members acquired more music and music stands. Top salesman, Sammy Lanham, delivered 377 bars for the prize of a five pound bar of chocolate.

Culpeper hosted approximately sixty visiting musicians from four counties for the annual Area Band, March 17-19. Mr. James Lunsford of Falls Church High School and Catholic University directed students from Orange, Fauquier, Clark, Loudoun, and Culpeper counties on Friday and Saturday in preparation for the free concert given in the local gym on Sunday. Twenty Culpeper bandsmen won chances to participate.

Joining thirty-seven Virginia bands for Band Day at the University of Virginia's homecoming football game on October 8, the Marching Band, 58-strong, participated in the half-time show.

Besides presenting a Christmas concert on December 19, the Concert Band entertained the Ann Wingfield student body in May. By passing a qualifying test, sixteen new members increased the group to fifty-nine musicians.

One of almost one hundred units, the Marching Band set the pace for the annual Firemen's Parade in May.

Adding zest and spirit to all home football games and away games at James Monroe and Garfield, the band enlivened pep rallies held in the gym before important matches.

Baritonist John Benziger occupied first seat at the Northern District Regional Band at Thomas A. Edison High School in Washington, D.C., February 3-5. Ann Grimsley and Larry Bannister also played in the Junior Band, conducted by Mr. Paul Noble, director of the Shenandoah Conservatory of Music.

The Senior Band directed by Mr. Allen Bone of Duke University, included Gregory Yates, Wallace White, Harry Will, and Wayne Breedon.

The Junior and Senior Bands collaborated for a concert on February 5.

Future Homemakers Entertain Parents

Working jointly with the FFA, the Future Homemakers of America hosted a mother-daughter, father-son banquet in April. The presentation of awards and recognitions of outstanding members of the clubs highlighted the dinner.

The girls adopted a needy family for Christmas and Easter. Through their gifts of food, clothing, stockings at Christmas, the FHA-ers made the holidays a little more cheerful for two girls, aged seven and eight, and two boys, aged two and eleven.

During activity period on March 1, members toured the Culpeper Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Henry Witten was in charge of the tour, and she showed the girls many new additions to the building.

Hoping that some of the girls would become Candy-Strippers, Culpeper Memorial Hospital first invited the FHA to tour the building three years ago. Members learned about the various job opportunities available in a hospital.

To give their club a boost financially, the FHA-ers served the annual COLONNADE banquet.

Reverend John Jordan, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church spoke at the November meeting. His topic was "Morals and Manners Matter."

WASHING DISHES ISN'T THAT MUCH FUN—Linda Jones, secretary; Margaret Sheads, vice president; and Patricia Willis, president, finish up the after dinner chore.

FFA Supplies Vice President for District

At the annual banquet held at Stafford High School on February 22, the George Washington Federation of the Future Farmers of America named Dewayne Payne second vice president. Accompanied by Mr. Shirley Broyles, adviser, seven boys represented the Culpeper Chapter.

While enjoying a well-prepared meal, the delegates discussed district business matters and contests with FFA-ers from ten high schools. Special recognitions, awards, and several addresses highlighted the dinner.

Junior Alan Rice and sophomore Kevin Kam-meter represented CCHS at the annual FFA public speaking contest held at George Washington Carver High School on February 1. Attending as observers, they gained valuable experience listening to student presentations on topics pertaining to agriculture.

Future Farmers John Boldridge, Alan Rice, and Ronald Van Lieu traveled fifty miles to Caroline County to participate in soil judging contest held at Union High School on April 12.

In competition with delegates from six other high schools in their federation, the boys were allowed to enter as a four-man team, discarding the lowest of the scores at the end of the contest. However, the Culpeper FFA-ers placed all their confidence in their three-man entry, having decided against sending a fourth representative as alternate.

J. J. Wright High School in Spotsylvania County played host to a dairy judging contest in May. A team of FFA-ers tried for top honors to bring back to their club.

Collaborating with the Future Homemakers of America, the boys each brought a parent to the joint FFA-FHA banquet held in the Culpeper Firehall on April 21.

The pleasures of good food and fellowship were heightened when deserving Future Farmers received awards. Awards included the Outstanding Freshman Award, the Scholarship Award, and recognition of members who had made notable accomplishments in some area of agriculture.

OFF WE GO—Kevin Kammeter and Allen Rice travel to George Washington Carver High School to observe the Public Speaking Contest.

COLD DAY IN MARCH—Paul Compton participates in the annual Tractor Driving Contest in the field adjacent to the Administration building. He placed fourth.

THE DEADLINE IS—Kevin Kammeter, treasurer; Victor Jones, sentinel; Dewayne Payne, vice-president; Paul Compton, president; Keith Harris, secretary; Mr. Shirley Broyles, adviser, point out the day their calender campaign is to end.

HI-Y

Club Contributes $50 to Local Hospital

As one of their many service projects, the Hi-Y donated $50 to the Culpeper Memorial Hospital. Jon Conner, president, presented the gift to Mr. John Philips, Administrator of the hospital.

Selling popcorn at football and basketball games was the club's chief source of income.

Scott Chilton, Samuel Walker, Gregory Yates, Harvey Huffman, and Thomas Armstrong represented the Hi-Y at the Northern District meeting held at Orange County High School in November. Delegates to the annual Model General Assembly held in Richmond on the last weekend in March were Jonathan Conner and Thomas Armstrong. Chaplain Scott Chilton let the delegates from the Orange, Charlottesville, Warrenton, and Madison Y-Clubs in prayer at the annual district officers' workshop held in Culpeper on September 14. Mr. Fulton K. Johnson, Virginia District YMCA executive secretary, explained the purpose of the Y-Clubs.

Working with the Tri-Hi-Y, members presented their annual Christmas pageant.

Tri-Hi-Y Serves Forensics Workshop

OFF TO THE MEETING—Kay Partlow, secretary; Patti Willis, treasurer; Ellen Rudy, president; Martha Somerville, vice president; Bea Jacobs, chaplain; Christine Ganskopp, historian, are on their way to their meeting in Room 1. Mrs. Randall Blankenship missed the meeting.

All Tri-Hi-Y Club members helped to plan and cook a well-balanced hot meal for the district forensics workshop February 11. They served ham, string beans, hot rolls, deviled eggs, jello, and cookies in the cafeteria.

Initiating a clean-up campaign on November 19, approximately twenty girls pitched in to wash blackboards and chalk trays, dump trashcans, clean erasers, and in general improve the tidiness of the classrooms.

The two Y-clubs collaborated and presented an induction for new members on the afternoon of October 30. Reverend Floyd Binns and Reverend John Jordan were guest speakers.

About thirty members of the two clubs attended the annual district conference in Orange County High School. Bea Jacobs was district chaplain. In the election for district officers and officers for Model General Assembly, Anne Thomas won the position of 1967-68 district secretary and Patty Stringfellow, 1967 MGA House page.

President Ellen Rudy held a Christmas workshop preparing old toys for needy children at her home on Oaklawn Drive.

The Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y presented their annual Christmas play in the high school gymnasium December 17.

The two Y-clubs hosted the planning meeting early in the fall for all Y-officers of surrounding schools featuring Mr. Fulton K. Johnson as speaker. They served refreshments in the home economics room.

Business Leaders Rank Sixth in Nation

PREPARING FOR DISTRICT COMPETITION—Mary Brown, parliamentarian; Linda Jenkins, first vice president; Carolyn Alsop, second vice president; Peggie Hitt, treasurer, kneeling; Connie Bailey, president; Mrs. Albert Furguele, adviser; Kay Fincham, historian; Mrs. William Houck, adviser; Bonnie Bailey, secretary; Mary Jenkins, reporter, brush up on their parliamentary law.

Accompanied by Mrs. Albert Furguele and Miss Barbara Kinsey, nine members represented the Culpeper Chapter at the National FBLA Convention in New Orleans, Louisiana, in June. In over-all standings, the club rated sixth in the nation. Four delegates competed on a five-man law team which ranked tenth.

Connie Bailey presided at the planning meeting of the Madison Regional Convention at Harrisonburg on November 12. Kay Fincham, historian, and Carolyn Alsop, vice president, also attended.

The annual used book sale during August and September netted almost $200 for the club. Candy sold in November also boosted the treasury.

At the climax of Business Emphasis Week, February 17-24, Mrs. Brent Sandidge and Mr. Dennis Seiter chose Connie Bailey Miss FBLA. At the seventeenth annual Employer-Employee banquet, over 120 people saw eight members receive first place medals in various fields.

First place winners were Nancy Horton in beginning typing, Patsy Kibler in advanced typing, Shirley Jenkins in beginning shorthand, and Emily Edwards in bookkeeping.

Other winners who competed on the regional level on April 8 were Debbie Long, first in the essay contest, Brenda Groves for public speaking, and Julia Mills, first on the parliamentary law team. The spelling medal went to Linda Jenkins.

Mr. John A. B. Davies was made an honorary member of the FBLA. Connie Bailey presented a pair of silver candlesticks and a Paul Revere bowl to Mrs. William Houck, retiring adviser.

The Virginia FBLA president gave the authority of installing officers of other chapters to vice president, Carolyn Alsop. Forty-nine members travelled to Goochland County High School to present a gavel to the president of a new chapter in March. Bonnie Bailey gave devotions and a team explained the meaning of FBLA.

Candy Sale Finances Convention Trip

Working with senior members on the biggest money-making project of the year, Junior FBLA-ers helped to sell their complete supply of Mason candy within two weeks after its distribution in January. Profits from the sale helped to send representatives to the state convention at Roanoke in April. Seventy-two boxes won five dollars for freshman Linda Jenkins, highest salesman.

New Members attended a party given by veteran FBLA-ers in October. Seniors Coralie Brown and Anne Griffith demonstrated how to make Christmas decorations at the December meeting.

During FBLA Business Emphasis Week, Brenda Groves placed first in the public speaking contest, and Linda Iager tied for third place in the Typing I contest. They received their prizes at the annual FBLA banquet in February.

Accompanied by their adviser, Miss Barbara Kinsey, Donna Baldwin and Sue Shifflett represented the Junior FBLA at the planning meeting for the Madison Regional Convention at Harrisonburg on November 12.

A delegation of junior members accompanied senior FBLA-ers when they installed a new chapter of Future Business Leaders at Goochland in March.

STUDYING HARD—Douglas Jenkins and Patsy Jacobs examine spelling lists in preparation for the FBLA Spelling Contest. Both received certificates for their high marks.

DECA Trains Christmas Job-Seekers

To students who wanted to prepare themselves for work in retail stores during the Christmas holidays, the Distributive Education Club offered ten hours of job training in late November. Swamped with applications, the members split students into two classes of eighteen each.

Under the supervision of Mr. Danny Bruffey, adviser, the trainees met for two hours after school for five days. Instruction on job applications and interviews, cash register operation, change-making, and store courtesy filled the busy schedule.

DECA-ers Michael Heflin, Jack Griffin, Richard Phelps, Thomas Stanley, Thomas Jeffries, Nancy Tanner, and Catherine Maguire gave their services as student instructors.

THIS IS A STICKUP—Joanne Jeffries puts up a poster to celebrate DECA Week.

At a fall rally held at Osbourn on October 26, twenty members heard guest speaker Frank Taber, DECA national president, tell what distributive education meant to him. Among five hundred delegates from District II, they enjoyed a dinner and social hour afterwards.

National DECA Week, November 6-12, brought a tightly packed round of activities for the Culpeper Chapter. Serving as general chairman, Nancy Tanner coordinated the week's events.

Newberry's and the Family Recreation Center sported window displays, and all job training centers wore posters and decals. Members posted messages about the purpose of the Distributive Education Clubs of America in CCHS's halls.

The Ritz-Hi-Hat Restaurant hosted the annual banquet on March 13. Winners of contests conducted during DECA Week received awards at the dinner.

Jack Griffin caught first place in sales demonstration, and Steve Strickland came out on top in art layout.

First place in the public speaking contest went to Catherine Maguire, and Thomas Stanley rated highest in job interviews.

William Rudd captured top honors in the window display competition.

VICA Enters CCHS Organization Roster

Established especially for Industrial Cooperative Training students, a chapter of the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America became an important part of extracurricular activities.

Because the club was new, most activities were aimed at laying the groundwork for a constructive, efficient club. Three boys and two girls organized and formulated activities with the help of other long-standing VICA chapters.

To gather the essential information about meetings, officer responsibilities, and the usual order of communications within the district, state and nation, they corresponded with various Vocational Industrial Clubs in Virginia.

They also learned about annual VICA contests, which offer competition on state and district levels. Members were eligible to enter hair-styling, automobile trouble-shooting, public speaking, bulletin board display, and spelling divisions.

Virginia state contests were held at the Cavalier Hotel in Virginia Beach in the first week of April.

OFF TO WORK—VICA students Margaret Sheads, Ronald Jenkins, Kay Corder, Edmund Tolson, and John Menefee dash to their training centers after third period.

Pennant Sales Boost Spirit and Treasury

COUNTING CALORIES?—Patty Foan, president; Metta Harris, secretary; Alycia Farrar, treasurer; Mrs. Lloyd Fagg, adviser; Jean Graham, historian; Harriet Malnowski, vice president; discuss menus for their banquet.

Promoting school spirit and bringing revenue into their coffer, the Girls' Monogram Club sold Blue Devil pennants for fifty cents each.

Veteran monogrammers transformed the girls' locker room into a house of horrors for initiates in November. Costumed as hoboes and infants, new members were blindfolded and forced to finger pork brains and boiled spaghetti. Linda Powers earned a monogram pin for submitting with the best sportsmanship.

With the help of a tall stranger labelled Poopsie, alias Mr. Patrick Kearney, the monogrammers emerged victorious from the annual Faculty-Monogram basketball game held in February. Mrs. John Dowell, the female faculty's masked marvel, aided Miss Beverly Roark, Miss Eleanor Wright, Mrs. William Houck, Miss Barbara Kinsey, Mrs. Lloyd Fagg, Mrs. Robert McGee, and Mrs. Robert Yeaman. Adding pep and spirit, Miss Mary Bolen and Miss Mildred Jones led cheers for the teachers.

After practicing several evenings after school, Susan Crafton, Linda Powers, Elizabeth Shifflette, Miriaus Carter, Patricia Jacobs, and Patricia Foan gave encouraging yells for the girls' team. Dressed in dark blue skirts and white blouses, they displayed yellow construction paper booster emblems.

Templeton Adair and Deborah White refereed the game.

At half-time, Mr. Herbert Hash, professional auctioneer, cried the sale of cakes which the members had made. Mrs. Lloyd Fagg's cake with blue and gold icing brought the highest bid of the auction, six dollars.

Since the District 1-B Basketball Tournament began the next evening, the generous purchasers donated the victory cake to the Blue Devils, who shared it in the locker room after defeating the Brentsville District Tigers.

All girls who participated in sports were eligible to attend the athletic banquet held jointly in May. Mrs. Fagg, adviser, presented monogram pins, letters, and awards. Good participation and athletic ability won a $50 scholarship presented at commencement for a deserving senior.

VARSITY CLUB

Varsity Lettermen Sport New Insignia

Proud varsity lettermen sported new patches on their jackets and blazers. Designed by Senior Charles Edwards, the emblems were the traditional blue and gold of the Devils. A gold devil's head in the center made the patches unique.

Taking advantage of a profitable situation, the boys worked in shifts selling candy and soft drinks at the two Battlefield District basketball tournament games held in the local gym. The unusually large crowds and the members' excellent salesmanship brought $110 to the Varsity Club's treasury.

Arrayed in feminine finery, Varsity Club initiates endured a rough day in March. Amid wolf whistles, astonished faces, and giggles all around, they ate their lunch on the cafeteria floor.

Upon the orders of experienced members, mop-haired initiates entertained classes with songs and nursery rhymes. The penalty for speaking to authentic females was twenty push-ups.

Changing from dresses to diapers, the new members bit hard on their bottles as the combined men's faculties of CCHS, Ann Wingfield Junior High School, and A. G. Richardson Elementary School trounced the Varsity Club team in their annual basketball tangle.

May brought the annual athletic banquet attended by boys who had participated in any sport during the year.

Junior Monogrammers Initiate Twelve

Who would ever expect to find hair curlers, lipstick, and lacy bloomers at a Junior Monogram Club meeting? Disguised as members of the fair sex, twelve monogram initiates ran a gauntlet of snickers, impromptu theatrical performances, and seemingly impossible feats on March 17.

At the annual Faculty-Varsity Club basketball game, the boys became boisterous cheerleaders for the teachers' team, making up with spirit and volume for what they lacked in knowledge of the cheers.

By selling candy and soft drinks at Varsity and Junior Varsity basketball games, the boys added enough to their treasury to finance a trip to Washington, D.C. where they attended a Senators baseball game.

By watching films of the Blue Devils in action on the gridiron, Junior Monogrammers were able to study football plays critically, and with explanations of the coaches, improve their own skills.

PEERING INTO THE FUTURE—Mr. James Chapman, adviser; John Akers, president; William Pullen, sergeant at arms; Harvey Clatterbuck, treasurer; Russell Hudson, vice president; Alan Myers, secretary; George Pulliam, sergeant at arms.

"ARE THEY 'GONNA DO THAT TO ME?"—Ramsey Woods stares in disbelief during the Junior Monogram initiation.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

Varsity Cheerers Alternate as Captain

Abandoning the tradition of an elected captain, the Varsity squad let each girl have a turn calling the cheers. The office of captain progressed alphabetically from Sophomore Carolyn Abernathy to Senior Ellen Rudy.

Introducing several new cheers, the cheerleaders led the student body in pep rallies.

Blue and gold streamers covered the goal posts at home football games, and the girls decorated the gym during the basketball season. The squad hung colorful posters in the halls as reminders of games, and their art work increased attendance and school spirit.

A board of judges chose the eight girls and two alternates in May of the previous year. They rated candidates on pep, jump, volume, knowledge of the cheer, enunciation, and appearance. Christine Ganskopp and Marsha Pierce were picked as alternates for the lucky eight regulars.

Varsity cheerleaders promoted better relations between CCHS and other Battlefield District schools. Even though the games were times of stress and emphasis on the qualities of individual schools, at halftime the girls chatted with the cheerleaders from the opposing team, encouraging friendly rivalry.

EASY NOW—Gwen Hitt is not afraid of heights since she has been decorating the goal posts. Deborah Long and Virginia Brown practice football cheers on the front lawn. Jane Hudson works with prospective cheerleader Connie Stanley on cheers that she presented to a faculty-student committee.

NEW SQUAD—Miss Nancy Hilton, adviser, welcomes new J.V. and Varsity cheerleaders.

YELL—THEY MEAN IT—Alison Graves and Alycia Farrar lead the squad in a cheer at Fort Hunt where CCHS played Woodbridge in the tournament.

SORT OF LIKE A V—Carolyn Abernathy illustrates a jump to prospective Junior Varsity Cheerleaders.

HAIR IN YOUR EYES—Ellen Rudy cheers the boys to victory.

JUNIOR VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

Seventeen Try for Junior Varsity Squad

With the help of the Varsity squad and several of last year's Junior Varsity Cheerleaders who were ineligible, seventeen hopeful freshmen and sophomores practiced for three sweltering days in early September.

Performing two of the three cheers taught at practice, each girl appeared individually before a panel of judges which included principal Lloyd Cregger and Miss Nancy Hilton, adviser of both cheerleading squads.

The eight successful candidates elected Margaret Stiteler captain and chose Karen Pierce for their co-captain. Peggy Myers, first alternate, filled in for regular squad members when they were absent.

Leading the yells for all junior varsity football and basketball tangles, the girls added pep and spirit to home girls' basketball games.

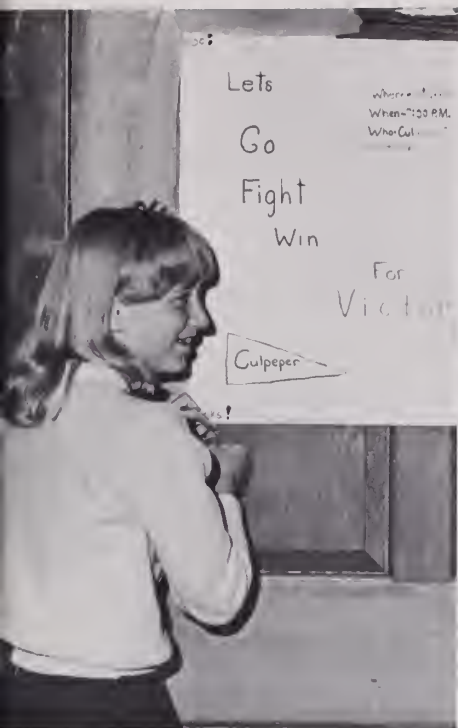

To help in raising money for the boys' athletic association, the squad sold programs priced at twenty-five cents each at varsity home football games.

Practicing twice a week, the junior varsity girls introduced several new cheers. The Rinkydinks saw better attendance at their games thanks to colorful and often comical reminders made by the cheerleaders and posted in the halls.

Halftime visits to the Rinkydinks' opponents' side of gridirons and gyms kept competition on a friendly basis.

EXTRA, EXTRA—J.V. Cheerleaders Bette Diehl, Margaret Christensen, and Karen Pierce jump with the assistance of Connie Stanley, Cynthia Thomas, and Joyce Koontz.

STICK IT UP—Karen Pierce adjusts one of her posters.

JUMPING FOR JOY—Deborah Sabeen executes her first cheer as a cheerleader.

V FOR VICTORY— Veteran Margaret Stiteler ends a cheer after being elected captain.

SUMMER TRYOUTS— Freshmen and Sophomore girls gather for a four-day practice session after school in August.

SPORTS

Enthusiasm for golf, a recently organized sport, highlighted the 1966-67 athletic season. The addition of a whirlpool machine glamorized football ailments, and with a rebound machine, basketball skills were developed. New lockers improved facilities. This mingling of new and old is another aspect of transition at CCHS.

BASEBALL

Alan Wohlleben Wins 8 of 10 Games

With seven returning lettermen the Blue Devil nine had a winning season. They ended with an 8-4 overall and a 6-3 record in the Battleground District. Ace pitcher Alan Wohlleben won eight out of ten games with one no-hitter. He struck out 82 batters in 53 innings.

The Devils had to go into an extra inning to defeat the Stafford Indians. Culpeper drew first blood, getting a run in the second when Philip Eggborn hit a slicing home run down the right field line that rolled and rolled. Stafford tied the game in the third.

Richard Deal scored in the fourth on a double by Charles Tysinger. Alan Wohlleben and Cyrus Will scored on a sharp single by Edward Bailey in the fifth.

In the sixth Eggborn came up with a triple and scored on a hit by Tysinger.

Stafford picked up a run in the fifth and two more in the sixth.

In the seventh Stafford scored again sending the game into extra innings.

In the eighth with one out Eggborn and Tysinger walked. Ronald Johnson then singled to right, and Eggborn strolled home for the winning run. The final score was Culpeper 6, Stafford 5.

The Blue Devils erupted for five runs in the bottom of the second and coasted to a 7-1 victory over Osbourn behind no-hit pitching by Wohlleben in a game called after five innings because of rain and cold.

Only one person handled the ball besides the pitcher and catcher, that on a grounder to Bailey at second.

The Stonewall Jackson game was very close. Deal scored in the first on a single by Donald Johnston. After that neither team was able to score.

ANYONE FOR A BROMO?—With empty mitt Rusty Thrift of the Woodbridge Vikings belts Cy Will, scoring the winning run. Culpeper won the contest 4-3 in extra innings.

SIZING UP THE BATTER—Alan Wohlleben winds up against Osbourn. Culpeper won a five-inning no-hitter 7-1. He struck out ten batters.

"BEAT YOU"—Jimmy Herndon slips through to third base between Vikings Dan Matthews and Van Hooser. Culpeper won 9-3.

Saunders Takes Second in State Meet

Lamont Saunders and Edward Bailey competed in the Group 1B State meet at VMI's Alumni Field. There Saunders finished second in the 880, and Bailey finished fifth in the 180-yard low hurdles.

In the district meet the Blue Devils finished sixth, one point behind Orange. Saunders highlighted the meet by taking the championship in the 880 for the second straight year.

Two school records were smashed by the Devil cindermen. Bailey ran the 100-yard dash in 10.0 for a new mark. The 880 relay team composed of Bailey, David Buswell, Dennis Seliqini, and Marvin Brown gathered in the other new mark at 1.36.8.

The Devil track team put together their first winning season since 1960. Saunders, Richard Deal, Ronald Johnson, and Bailey, all seniors, led the team in over-all scoring. These four seniors, scoring 155 points in five meets, tallied almost one half of the total points.

At the home track on a very damp, rainy afternoon, the Devils clobbered the Spotsylvania

Knights, 86-32. The rain mattered not to the cindermen as they grabbed 11 out of 14 possible first-place awards. Results of the 100-yard, 220-yard, discus, and shot put showed Culpeper winning all three places in these events.

In the final meet of the season the Devils squashing the Yellow Jackets of Osbourn, gained 10 points out of a possible 14. Bailey triumphed in both the 100-yard dash and the low hurdles.

District champions, the Stafford Indians, scalped the Blue Devils. The Devil cindermen managed to capture only six first place events. Bailey won in the 100 and the low hurdles. Deal came through in the high jump and broad jump. Saunders captured the 880 and Michael Carpenter tossed in the shot put.

First Golf Team Has Winning Season

The Culpeper golf team, the first in CCHS's history, ended its first year with a winning season. The golfers had a record of four wins and two losses. The team practiced and played all their home matches at the Culpeper Country Club.

For their first home match and the first win of the season the Blue Devils pounced on the Osbourn Yellow Jackets 7-2. Richard Clore, Ronald Mustain, Walter Potter, William Cassidy, and Barry Sudduth each earned points in their individual wins. In team action Mustain and Potter won, and Cassidy and Sudduth also came out on top.

The Devil golfers beat Stonewell Jackson in both encounters. In the first match Mustain, David Martin, Cassidy, Macol Hash, and Potter each stroked less than their opponents.

SOFTBALL

Devilettes Whip Fauquier and Stafford

Finishing the season with a win over Fauquier, the Devilettes had a 6-4 record. The most impressive score was a 17-7 victory in the first game against Fauquier.

"Crushing Fauquier 4-1 in the last game was probably the best game against the best opposition of the season," said Coach Floyd Binns. Phyllis Berry retired the first seventeen batters.

The Stafford game proved to be an endurance test. Culpeper made eight runs in the first inning, but the Squaws came alive in the seventh by knocking in seven runs to tie the score. After a scoreless eighth, Culpeper finally tagged home for a victory.

The Devilettes defeated Albemarle 6-5 on April 15. At the end of regulation play there was a 5-5 deadlock, but in an extra inning the Devilettes won.

With Osbourn making a comeback in the seventh, Binns' Bombers dropped the second game of the season 11-10. At the bottom of the third Culpeper led 4-0, but in the seventh the Yellow Jackets scored eight runs.

Cagers End Season with 1-4-1 Record

With only one substitute the Devilette Hockey team existed. For several weeks of practice Coach Barbara Fagg was not sure there would be a team due to ineligibilities. The Varsity ended the season with a 1-4-1 record. Coach Fagg emphasized, "Losing only two players, we have great expectations for the coming year."

In the opening game James Monroe thrashed Culpeper a sound 5-0. Sally Wharton led her team with four goals.

Pointless in the first half against J.M. on October 3, the Devilettes caged four goals in the second half for a 4-2 victory. Tension mounted when a Yellow Jacket goal was called back because of a foul upfield. Deborah Brown, Susan Crafton, Metta Harris, and Harriet Malnowski, all playing on the forward line, took the scoring honors.

The Stafford clash brought a 1-1 tie when Deborah Brown, alone, drove fifty yards to score.

Coach Fagg described the defense in the first half as being exceptionally good.

Spotsylvania scooped over Culpeper's sticks for a 1-0 victory on a late September day. Sloshing and slipping through mud and rain, the team experienced a different facet of play.

Stafford crushed the Varsity on September 15 seven to two. Metta Harris tapped in one in the first half, and Harriet Malnowski caged the other in the second half.

The Devilettes finished their season with a 2-0 loss to Spotsylvania. Catherine Miller, goalie, made several saves for Culpeper. For seniors Harriet Malnowski and Metta Harris this was their final game.

Team Gains Experience, Beats Raiders

Throughout the season lack of experience hampered the Blue Devils. With only seven returning lettermen the team failed to compile a winning record.

In the Stonewall Jackson game, Charles Seale completed eight out of 11 passes to guide the Devils to their lone victory. The first score came in the third quarter on an 11 yard pass to James Herndon. After the extra point failed the Raiders marched 65 yards to score seven points. In the final minutes a crucial interception by Paul Wohlleben set up a 22 yard pass from Seale to Herndon wrapping up the game 13-7.

The first score in the Orange game came on a three yard plunge by John Kirkham. The extra point attempt failed. The Devil's outstanding defense held the Hornets scoreless until the final 53 seconds. After a successful statue of liberty play, Tommy Breedon scored on a three yard dive, and Jim Morton scored the extra point making the final score Orange 7, Culpeper 6.

A close game with the Mountaineers ended the Devils' season. In the first quarter Harry Jones took the ball in from the one. The extra point kick was off to the left, leaving the score 6-0. The Devils took a second quarter lead on a touchdown by Alvin Stanley from the one. Ronald Mills added the extra point. With less than a minute to play, Stephen Early of Madison galloped ten yards to pay dirt. The extra point attempt failed. The Devils were unable to retaliate and the game ended 12-7.

"TAKE THE FAKE"—Ronald Mills charges for yardage against Jacket defender Gary Grinnan. James Monroe came out on top 39-0.

HAULING FREIGHT—Charlie Seale sweeps for a first down against the victorious Madison Mountaineers.

FROM THE SIDE LINES—Despair and anxiety drape the faces of Thomas Gore and Philip Walker during the game with the Hornets. Orange men eased out the Devils 7 to 6.

Kangaroo Jimmy Herndon grabs a pass on the James Monroe gridiron where the Yellow Jackets stung Culpeper 39-0.

JUNIOR VARSITY FOOTBALL

Dinks End Season 4-4-1, Sting Hornets

With only three returning players the Rinky-dinks still managed to break even. They won four, lost four, and tied one.

A blocked punt, a pass, and a line plunge in the last 20 seconds brought the Dinks a dramatic 13-7 victory over the Baby Hornets.

A punt blocked by William Wedemeyer set the stage for the Dinks to take over near midfield. A pass to Luther Stanley carried from the Orange 45 to the two. The Hornets held for two downs, and then fullback George Glascock crashed over with the winning touchdown. Glascock also scored the extra point. The score remained 13-7.

The Jayvees romped to a 53-7 victory over Spotsylvania.

Fullback George Glascock led the Culpeper scoring with three touchdowns and five extra points for 23 points. Halfback Luther Stanley scored two touchdowns for 12 points, and halfback Mahlon McAllister scored three times for 18 points.

Against Stonewall Jackson the Dinks scored early in the opening period as Stanley galloped around the left end for 65 yards.

Stanley scored his second touchdown in the third period on a sweep from 20 yards out.

Glascock and William Brown each carried the ball to pay dirt once. The score was Culpeper 26, Stonewall Jackson 0.

Plagued by heavy rain, fog, and very wet field conditions, the Dinks and the Woodbridge Vikings sloshed to a 0-0 tie.

The Jayvees were defeated by Stafford 12-6. The Indians' victory came from two uprisings in the first half. Culpeper's only score came in the first period when Glascock hauled the pigskin

Gaining Experience Devilettes Win One

With only one returning letterman, Coach Barbara Fagg had to draft sophomores to the varsity. At the end of the season, she commented, "We had a practically brand new team. Naturally the experienced players looked good. The prospects for the future are looking up."

As the highlight of the season, the Devilettes squeezed Orange 29-23. Leading from the beginning, the halftime score stood 20-11. Ahead by as much as eleven points, Coach Fagg put in substitutes. Only four points to the Hornets' eight tightened the tally in the fourth quarter. Patricia Ankers topped the scoring with six buckets.

After a tight first half against Fauquier, in which the lead changed several times, the Falcons took a commanding lead to an easy victory 38-28. Culpeper was plagued with fouls.

Unable to stop Dolores Dent, who dumped in nineteen points, Culpeper was sent tumbling by the Stafford Squaws 27-12. Culpeper was sour at the foul line.

At the second tilt with Stafford, Fagg's girls had a cold first half, but the Culpeper six bounced back to make nine points to the Squaws' two in the third quarter. This was not enough to overcome a Stafford thirteen-point fourth quarter. The tally ended 43-23.

Individual scoring for the season found Metta Harris on top with 69, Patricia Ankers 36, Deborah White 19, Templeton Adair 15, Susan Crafton 13, Harriet Malnowski 9, Deborah Brown 7, Lois Cottom 7, Linda Powers 2, Nancy Gimbel 2, and Brenda Thornhill 2.

Hoopsters Squash Orange, Nip Fauquier

The Baby Devilettes opened their season with a 10-8 victory over Fauquier. Coming from a 2-4 deficit, Rita Riley sunk the final basket to clinch the win. The difference in the two teams came at the foul line. Culpeper made four of nine attempts while the Falcons did not pump in any. Rita Riley was high scorer with eight.

Against Orange they slipped by 14-12. At halftime it was a 6-6 tie. The deciding factor was the third quarter when Culpeper made seven to the Hornets' zero. With a 14-6 lead Coach Margaret Brown put in her substitutes. Everyone on the squad got into the game.

The second tilt against the Hornets was a thriller. Late in the final period Orange broke an 8-8 deadlock to steal a victory 14-9. Culpeper made a 78% foul shot percentage. Nancy Longerbeam made four points.

Halftime found Spotsylvania on top of the 11-8 tally on November 1. Ann Mills reeled off three field goals in the second quarter, but Knight Barbara Maslin tossed in four goals to put the game out of reach in the second half. The game ended 21-9.

In the first James Monroe affair, Ann Mills dumped the only field goal of the second half. The Yellow Jackets nipped Culpeper 12-4.

Fauquier outscored Brown's Jay-Vees 21-11. The first quarter ended in a 4-4 tie, but from then on the Falcons commanded.

Failing to ignite in the first quarter against the Yellow Jackets on November 15, the Jay-Vees fell with a 30-13 loss. J.M.'s Anna Butzer was a standout with sixteen points.

Rita Riley was high scorer for the season with 31 points, Ann Mills made 23, Nancy Longerbeam 15, Rebecca Bailey 7, Ann Green 5, Paula Wood 4, Anne Bell 2, and Catherine Fore 1.

WRESTLING

Kammeter Places 4th in State Tourney

Even though the 10-man Culpeper wrestling team placed last in the district, they succeeded in sending three men to the state match, held at North-side High School, Roanoke, Virginia. Representing Culpeper were Kevin Kammeter, Marion Edwards, and Robert Christensen. Kammeter, undefeated in five matches in district competition and with a 5-2 overall record, placed fourth in state competition.

At the annual Battlefield District matches at James Monroe Kammeter placed second in the 112-pound class to earn his entry. Edwards picked up second place in the 138-pound class, while Christensen finished fourth in the 120-pound class.

In the Orange match Kammeter and Ronald Wilson pinned their opponents. Kenneth Mills won by a decision, and Marvin Brown wrestled to a draw.

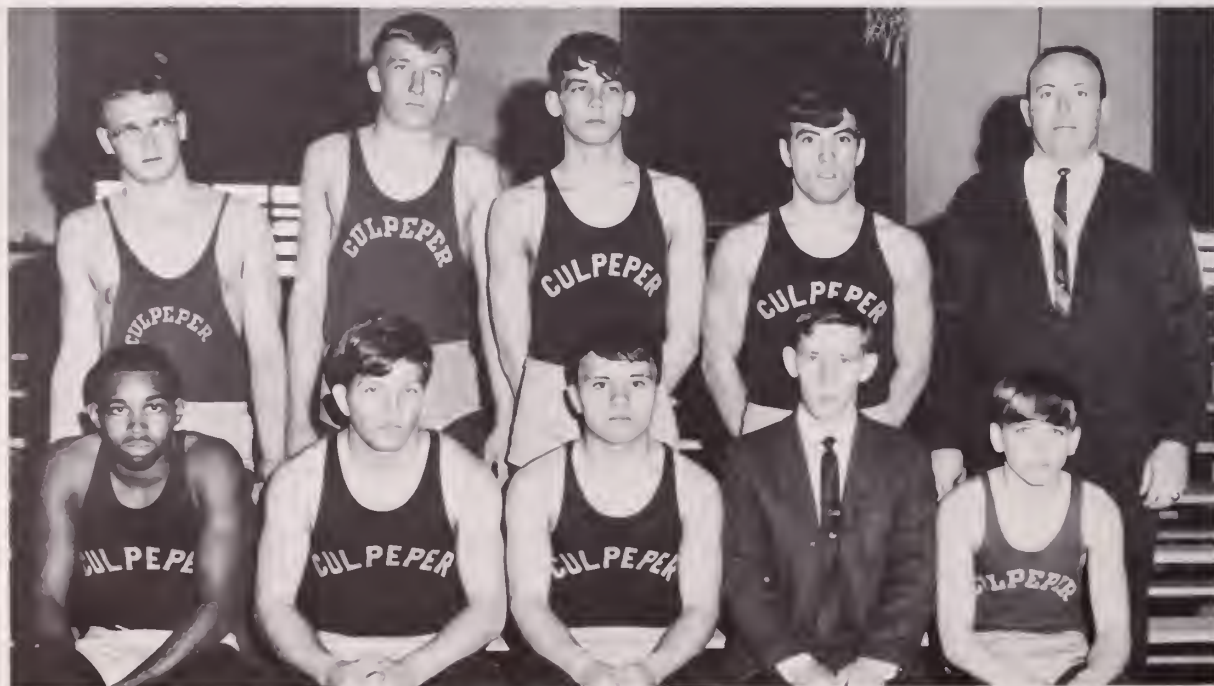

The Jayvees took Osbourn, 20-13.

Devils Swat Jackets in Quarter Finals

The Devils, in eighth place in the district after the regular season, came to life in the tournament. The highlight of the year came during tournament play when the cagers crushed the regular season champs, James Monroe 81 to 63. Barry Sudduth averaged 20 points during the play-offs and was elected to the All-Tournament team.

In the first play-off game a 15-foot set shot by David Martin sent the Devils and the Nokesville Tigers into a three minute overtime at 74-74 as the buzzer sounded. Despite the close scoring, the Devils dumped the Tigers, 82-78. Barry Sudduth was high scorer with 17 points; Fred Rankin and Jimmy Herndon each hit for 14 points.

In the second game of the tournament at Stafford High School, the Blue Devils used the fast break extensively against James Monroe. The quintet not only out-rebounded the Yellow Jackets but out-shot them too. The Devils made 57% of their shots while the Jackets made only 36%. The game was close until the final quarter when the Devils broke away and made 72% of their shots. High for Culpeper were John Kirkham with 25 and Barry Sudduth with 23.

In the semi-finals at Fort Hunt High School, the Devils were unable to keep pace with Woodbridge, who went on to win the Tournament. The Devils fell to the Vikings 75-63. Barry Sudduth captured scoring honors for the Devils with 21 points.

In the closing seconds of the Spotsylvania game during regular season play, James Herndon sank a 20-foot set shot to break a 64-64 tie and gave the Devils a victory.

BOYS' JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL

Cagers Defeat Knights in Overtime

At the end of the 4th period the Spotsylvania game was tied 33 to 33 and was forced into a three minute overtime period. In the closing seconds the Knights led by one point, but Luther Stanley made an off-balance jump-shot from the head of the key to give the Dinks the lead 38 to 37. Irving Gourdine was fouled after stealing the ball. He made the first but missed the second. With three seconds remaining Sanford Batten pulled down the rebound and laid it up for two. The final score was the Dinks 42, the Knights 38. Gary Lillard was high for Culpeper with 16 points.

With a minute and a half to go, the Dinks led 36 to 31 over Nokesville. Two quick baskets by the Tigers pulled them within one point. Then, with 20 seconds remaining Irving Gourdine stole a pass and drove in alone for a layup that put the game out of reach. The game ended 38 to 35. Sanford Batten led the scoring for the Dinks with 10 points.

After Gar-Field jumped to a quick lead in the first quarter, 9-4, Culpeper charged back to lead at halftime 22 to 17. In the second half the Indians bounced back to win 49 to 43. High scorer for Culpeper was Gary Lillard with 15 points.

The Dinks' final victory of the season came when they uprooted the Stonewall Jackson Raiders 49 to 36. Good defense by the Dinks held the opposition to only one point in the final period.

Students thundered out of CCHS. The halls stood deserted. The thing about CCHS that brought a catch to so many throats was partly a reflection of tradition and partly an image of experiences. With knowledge learned students will continue to grow and to meet challenges. The spirit of transition will still echo.
